Auto Workers Set To Spurn GM Proposal

DETROIT (AP) — Leaders of the United Auto Workers today made plans to reject a contract proposal called by a General Motors negotiator "the highest wage increase ever offered the UAW" by the Big Three auto-makers.

As the union studied nearly identical offers made Tuesday by General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, a top concern was which company to pick as a contract target.

The union traditionally focuses on one firm and drives to a settlement there through negotiation or strike. Three-year contracts covering 65,000 workers at the Big Three expire at midnight Tuesday.

Chrysler's top negotiator said the union's rejection of Tuesday's offer was "less than enthusiastic."

The union had no immediate comment.

National union negotiating committees at the Big Three meet today to examine the offer and to forge their expected rejection arguments.

The UAW's International Executive Board meets today and Thursday to consider ratification of the committee's action and to pick the target.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, will enter talks at the target company Friday.

Here are highlights of the companies' offers:

—An immediate 13-cent-an-hour wage hike.

—Improving the workers wage in 1968 and 1969 at the rate of 2.8 per cent of his previous hourly wage.

—A guaranteed minimum cost-of-living increase of four cents an hour.

—A pay hike for skilled tradesmen above the general increase, to be worked out in negotiations.

The companies estimate that their offer would boost wage benefits alone by 33 to 51 cents an hour.

Democrats Lauded by Party Head

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Morton Neipp, Ohio Democratic chairman, said Wednesday the Democratic minority in the 107th Ohio General Assembly should be credited with effecting "a number of forward moving actions by Ohio's state government."

Without their efforts, he said, "the record of the 107th would have been appreciably less."

He added that the "Democrats' achievements in forcing a reapportionment plan with tighter guidelines is much less one-sided than the two Republican proposals which were defeated at the polls."

Democrats supported increases for education, Neipp said, but the GOP House leadership "through the devious means of tying these appropriations to the Rhodes program of regressive, consumer-oriented taxes, refused to allow separate roll call votes on the separate tax proposals" which the Democrats refused to support.

Radar Accuracy Is Probed; 14 Skydivers Still Missing

HURON, Ohio (AP) — An official has disclosed that the National Safety Transportation Board is seeking to determine if the pilot of a plane, from which 18 sky divers bailed out over Lake Erie, was given an accurate radar fix from a federal agency.

Meanwhile, the Coast Guard and others continue their search today for 14 divers missing and presumed drowned in the lake. The sky divers parachuted 20,000 feet from a B25 Mitchell Sunday.

Two divers were rescued and two bodies were found in the lake late Sunday.

Robert Coy, 29, Springfield, a survivor and others, including Raymond Starnes, editor of "Pilot-Chute" magazine, have said they believe there was another plane in the area at the time, which apparently was mistaken for the plane containing the divers.

Jack Harrington, a representative of the National Safety Board, said Monday night the board's investigation will seek

COUNTY RECEIVES GRANT — Ned Harden, seated, third from left, signed an agreement Wednesday with the FHA providing the County Planning Committee with funds to make a water and sewage study. Other officials present to witness the signing were, left to right, Charles Morris and Lloyd Melvin, county commissioners; Harden, Bruce G. Conner, county supervisor for FHA; standing, Elmer S. FHA Grant Authorized For Water, Sewage Study Pickaway County Regional Planning Committee has been granted $11,000 by the Farmers Home Administration for the purpose of making a comprehensive water and sewage study of the county. The announcement was made today by James T. McDorman, State Director of FHA.

The grant will provide for planning water supply and sewage removal systems in areas throughout the county excluding Circleville.

Bruce Conner, county supervisor for FHA, said the plan will provide the opportunity to develop water supplies and sewers in a manner that will allow the best service to most Pickaway Countians.

Specifications of the plan, Conner said, will be based on present population and predicted population figures and the possibility of industry locating in various areas.

7 To Be Charged In July Fire At Buckeye Lake

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state fire marshal's office reported Wednesday it was preparing charges against seven persons in connection with a fire which heavily damaged a building and boat dock at Buckeye Lake in Licking County July 5.

The blaze caused an estimated $65,000 damage to the Park Terrace Ball room, the excursion boat Buckeye Queen and docks, boats and marine facilities.

State arson chief, Eugene Jewell, said five adults and two juveniles are to be charged with willful and malicious burning. He said the fire was apparently set as an act of vandalism and was planned the day previously. He said gasoline was used to ignite the dock.

Police said 45 persons were arrested.

Twenty-two persons were injured, 11 of them policemen.

Red Chinese Newsletter Banned from U.S. Mail

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Red China-published newsletter preaching Negro hate of whites and urging big city violence now is banned from the U.S. mails.

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien announced the ban Tuesday on Crusader Newsletter, believed published in Communist China by Robert F. Williams, a fugitive American Negro.

Officials have said the B 25 was on radar when the divers leaped out, not knowing they were over Lake Erie. They missed their target by 10 miles.

The Coast Guard suspended temporarily its search Tuesday night, but said it will be resumed today on a limited basis.

A spokesman said there were "no significant findings" Tuesday, and little hope was left for finding any of the divers alive.

Ned Harden, Chairman of the committee, said "This is one of the best things that has happened to Pickaway County in a long time. The possible benefits are so large it is difficult even to dream of them."

The grant was processed through the local FHA office. Ralph B. Voorhis, Community Service officer, presented the grant to county officials.

The $11,000 grant must be used entirely for planning, Harden said. If and when the comprehensive plan is completed, other federal grants may be available for construction under specifications of the plan.

First stages of the comprehensive program were put into operation in June of 1966 when Harden met with Pickaway's Board of Commissioners and a representative of Barrett, Cargo, Withers and Associates.

A preliminary report submitted to Harden by the Chillicothe consulting firm pointed out that Pickaway County had an estimated population of 38,881 in 1964, representing a yearly increase of approximately 3.2 per cent since the 1960 census population of 35,855.

Vote on Marshall Expected Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thurgood Marshall's supporters are confident the Senate will confirm him as the first Negro Supreme Court justice in the nation's history.

The opposition is led by Southern senators who contend Marshall is a "judicial activist", or judge who they say interprets the Constitution to suit personal notions rather than its true intent.

A vote on confirmation was expected today.

Conservative Triumphs in Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Rep. John Bell Williams, firebrand foe of the national administration, won the Democratic nomination for Mississippi governor in a smashing conservative victory that left Negro voting hopes wrecked today.

The 48-year-old veteran of two decades in Congress, who lost his seniority for supporting the Republican presidential ticket three years ago, rallied hard-core segregationists and middle-of-the-roads to his cause with a blistering attack on liberalism.

With reports from the last precincts from Tuesday's voting trickling in, Williams' lead over state Treasurer William Winter approached 60,000 votes. Winter, who topped first primary voting three weeks ago, led this time in only 20 of the 82 counties.

The Williams vote carried white candidates to victory in all 22 local runoff where Negroes opposed white candidates, dashing Negro hopes for winning sheriff's posts for the first time since Reconstruction.

Mobbed by several thousand well-wishers at this downtown motel headquarters early today, Williams blurted his thanks into a microphone, then issued a statement through his press aide expressing gratitude, humility and hope for the future.

He praised Winter as "a worthy and able man" and called on Democrats to close ranks to defeat Republican challenger Rubel Phillips of Jackson in the Nov. 7 general election.

On a state level, the GOP offered only a gubernatorial candidate. They haven't elected a state official this century.

Winter, head bowed but trying to smile, conceded shortly before midnight, congratulating Williams and pledging "my cooperation in all his endeavors to advance our state."

Returns from 1957 of the 2,124 precincts gave Williams 348,711 votes and Winter 294,109.

Winter trailed almost from the start, indicating early he failed to shake the liberal label Williams pinned on him while attacking the Johnson administration in Washington and hinting "Kennedy-Johnson money" backed Winter.

The election hinged on two points from the outset: Whether Negro vote would solidify behind Winter after splitting in the first primary, and whether Williams could get the 124,000 votes of white supremacist Jimmy Swan, the No. 3 man in the first primary.

The conservative surge also carried Charles Sullivan, 42-year-old Clarksdale lawyer, to victory of almost 120,000 votes in the lieutenant governor's race over state Rep. Roy Black of Nettleton, a newcomer to state-level politics.

Thieu told the troops: "We are ready to negotiate. The problem is whether North Vietnam will accept. It is up to them."

He told newsmen later that if elected, "I will talk to North Vietnam first. If I get a favorable response, then I will talk to the Americans and may ask for more than one week."

Observers in Saigon, however, think it unlikely that the United States would go along with even a one-week pause in air strikes unless Hanoi indicated it would reciprocate.

Hamilton Man Gets Position at Miami

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Appointment of Marc W. Henneberger of Hamilton as Miami University's director of purchases and central service was announced Wednesday by Dr. Philip R. Shriver, president of the university.

Henneberger, who has been assistant director of purchases since 1965, succeeds Russell G. Young, who died Aug. 12. He formerly was vice president and general manager of the Henneberger Lumber Co. of Hamilton.

Plane Designer Dies

SAN FERNANDO, Calif. (AP) — William Hawley Bowlus, 72, who designed and built Charles Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis, died Sunday. Bowlus was plant manager of Ryan Airlines in San Diego, Calif., in 1927 when he designed Lindbergh's famous trans-Atlantic plane.

Johnson Is Mum About Next Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is keeping Congress in the dark on the possibility of a change in U.S. policy after Sunday's elections in South Vietnam.

There is wide expectation in the Senate that Johnson will make some dramatic move shortly after the new government is chosen.

Speculation ranges from a possible reopening of the Vietnam issue before the United Nations, with an accompanying suspension of bombing in the North, to a signal to Saigon to undertake independent negotiations with the Viet Cong.

But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Tuesday there was no discussion of the Vietnam war when Democratic congressional leader conferred with the President at the White House Monday night. This meeting took place only a few hours after Mansfield led a demonstration of support in the Senate for any presidential move that might be made to set up U.N. debate on means to negotiate the conflict.

Mansfield's move again was rebuffed by U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, whose earlier stance that the United Nations can't help settle the war because North Vietnam and Red China have no seats in the world body was reaffirmed by a U.N. spokesman Tuesday.

The Democratic leader said he hopes if chief of state Nguyen Van Thieu is elected president he will carry out a campaign promise to invite peace negotiations with the Viet Cong.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said he had heard no intimations the elections will alter American policies. He added that whatever happens he does not expect the President to stop the bombing.

Dirksen, a supporter of Johnson's war course, said he has had no word the President is planning any U. N. move.

Thieu Wants Negotiations With North

SAIGON (AP) — Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, the front-running military candidate for president in Sunday's elections, said today that if elected he may try to halt the bombing of North Vietnam for more than the one week he has been proposing.

A longer pause would depend on a favorable response from Hanoi and on agreement from the United States, Thieu stressed in a talk with newsmen after a campaign speech to more than 10,000 Vietnamese troops.

Thieu told the troops: "We are ready to negotiate. The problem is whether North Vietnam will accept. It is up to them."

He told newsmen later that if elected, "I will talk to North Vietnam first. If I get a favorable response, then I will talk to the Americans and may ask for more than one week."

the elections to give civilian candidates more time for campaigning, predicted the balloting will mark "the beginning of a new American policy."

In Boston, Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the American Legion convention that peace movements calling for negotiations now would have the United States stop the bombing while North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh's "half of the war goes on unabated."

Communists Free 1,000 From Prison

SAIGON (AP) — Communist soldiers boldly moved into a provincial capital early today under cover of a heavy mortar barrage and freed 1,000 prisoners in the most dramatic action of the Red campaign to disrupt and discredit South Vietnam's presidential elections.

A wave of attacks in the five provinces making up the war zone bordering North Vietnam indicated an all-out effort to spread disaffection in the sector which has always been the most politically sensitive in the nation.

There were 29 reported attacks or incidents in the 1st Corps war zone, where the ground war and the political war have blended into a single fierce struggle in the past few days. While the attack on the jail in Quang Ngai was the most spectacular Red assault, the Communists also hit a power station, a helicopter field, a U.S. military advisory compound, a U.S. Seabee camp and a radio station.

The South Vietnamese suffered many casualties, including 70 killed and 104 wounded in a combined mortar and ground attack on a Vietnamese army post and district headquarters at Tam Ky.

Three Americans were reported killed and 44 wounded, while known Communist losses were six killed at Quang Ngai and 14 killed at Tam Ky.

In addition to the attacks in the 1st Corps area, Red mortars shelled a camp in the highland city of Dalat, and wounded 19 Americans Tuesday night in a barrage on artillery positions 20 miles northeast of Saigon.

Overshadowed by the intensified Communist campaign in the South, American pilots kept up heavy attacks on North Vietnam and flew 151 missions Tuesday. The U.S. Command said one Marina A4 Skyhawk was lost and the pilot was missing. It was the 664th U.S. combat plane reported lost in the northern air war.

More than half of those interviewed said they were either undecided or did not wish to discuss their vote. Among the undecided were the rice farmers, drivers of bicycle cabs, vendors in the market places and soldiers in the countryside.

This bloc comprise roughly 80 per cent of the voters and will be decisive. But the military slate will probably capture most of this vote because the government structure that Thieu and Ky control spreads its roots so deep into the population that the civilian candidates cannot hope to match its influence.

In the rural areas, where the government has a tight rein on the villages and hamlets under its control, registration for the elections has gone up. In the cities it has declined since the last election.

In Saigon only 176,000 voters have registered out of 600,000 eligible. Although 60 per cent of the population of Vietnam is regarded as rural, 80 per cent of the registered voters are from the countryside.

The low city registration will reduce the vote for the civilian candidates.

Voters say the overriding election issue is peace, an end to the war that has split Vietnam asunder and grown into greater intensity with each day.

"There is only one problem in Vietnam," said an appliance store owner in Hue, "and that is the war."

"I am for the man who will try to achieve peace," said a Roman Catholic priest in Da Nang.

99 Per Cent Don't Know, Survey Shows

SAIGON (AP) — Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, the military candidates for president and vice president in South Vietnam's election Sunday, appear certain to carry the rural areas where 80 per cent of the voters live.

The leading civilian candidate, former Premier Tran Van Huong, is making inroads against the military ticket in the urban areas of the eight major cities. He is expected to get more votes than his nine civilian rivals but not nearly enough to overtake the powerful military bloc.

These are the conclusions of Associated Press correspondents who felt the pulse of the country in interview with more than 300 voters scattered from South Vietnam's northernmost provinces down into the Mekong delta.

The interviews indicated that only about one per cent of the 5.85 million registered voters have any idea of the campaign issues.

The Saigon intellectuals, the only people really discussing the election with any depth, are generally opposed to the military and support one of the four leading civilian tickets. The Dai Viet political machine has been active there for years.

The three other leading civilians have pockets of support in the old imperial city of Hue, Da Nang, Nha Trang on the central coast, Dalat, Saigon and the delta cities of Can Tho and My Tho.

More than half of those interviewed said they were either undecided or did not wish to discuss their vote. Among the undecided were the rice farmers, drivers of bicycle cabs, vendors in the market places and soldiers in the countryside.

Conservative Triumphs in Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Rep. John Bell Williams, firebrand foe of the national administration, won the Democratic nomination for Mississippi governor in a smashing conservative victory that left Negro voting hopes wrecked today.

The 48-year-old veteran of two decades in Congress, who lost his seniority for supporting the Republican presidential ticket three years ago, rallied hard-core segregationists and middle-of-the-roads to his cause with a blistering attack on liberalism.

With reports from the last precincts from Tuesday's voting trickling in, Williams' lead over state Treasurer William Winter approached 60,000 votes. Winter, who topped first primary voting three weeks ago, led this time in only 20 of the 82 counties.

The Williams vote carried white candidates to victory in all 22 local runoffs where Negroes opposed white candidates, dashing Negro hopes for winning sheriff's posts for the first time since Reconstruction.

Mobbed by several thousand well-wishers at this downtown motel headquarters early today, Williams blurted his thanks into a microphone, then issued a statement through his press aide expressing gratitude, humility and hope for the future.

He praised Winter as "a worthy and able man" and called on Democrats to close ranks to defeat Republican challenger Rubel Phillips of Jackson in the Nov. 7 general election. On a state level, the GOP offered only a gubernatorial candidate. They haven't elected a state official this century.

Winter, head bowed but trying to smile, conceded shortly before midnight, congratulating Williams and pledging "my co-operation in all his endeavors to advance our state."

Returns from 1957 of the 2,124 precincts gave Williams 348,771 votes and Winter 294,109.

Winter trailed almost from the start, indicating early he failed to shake the liberal label Williams pinned on him while attacking the Johnson administration in Washington and hinting "Kennedy-Johnson money" backed Winter.

The election hinged on two points from the outset: Whether Negro vote would solidify behind Winter after splitting in the first primary, and whether Williams could get the 124,000 votes of white supremacist Jimmy Swan, the No. 3 man in the first primary.

The Negro vote apparently split again.

The conservative surge also carried Charles Sullivan, 42-year-old Clarksdale lawyer, to victory of almost 120,000 votes in the lieutenant governor's race over state Rep. Roy Black of Nettleton, a newcomer to state-level politics.

Rhodes Favoring More School Aid

OSAGE BEACH, Mo. (AP)—Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes, chairman of the sixth annual Midwest Governors Conference, urged his fellow governors here Tuesday to approve a resolution calling for expanded vocational education programs and more federal aid.

"Every social ill that we have in the state of Ohio among able-bodied people arises from unemployment," Rhodes said, including racial riots.

Governors are to vote on the resolution later in the conference.

Plane Designer Dies

SAN FERNANDO, Calif. (AP)—William Hawley Bowlus, 72, who designed and built Charles Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis, died Sunday. Bowlus was plant manager of Ryan Airlines in San Diego, Calif., in 1927 when he designed Lindbergh's famous trans-Atlantic plane.

Johnson Is Mum About Next Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is keeping Congress in the dark on the possibility of a change in U.S. policy after Sunday's elections in South Vietnam.

There is wide expectation in the Senate that Johnson will make some dramatic move shortly after the new government is chosen.

Speculation ranges from a possible reopening of the Vietnam issue before the United Nations, with an accompanying suspension of bombing in the North, to a signal to Saigon to undertake independent negotiations with the Viet Cong.

But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Tuesday there was no discussion of the Vietnam war when Democratic congressional leader conferred with the President at the White House Monday night. This meeting took place only a few hours after Mansfield led a demonstration of support in the Senate for any presidential move that might be made to set up U.N. debate on means to negotiate the conflict.

Mansfield's move again was rebuffed by U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, whose earlier stance that the United Nations can't help settle the war because North Vietnam and Red China have no seats in the world body was reaffirmed by a U.N. spokesman Tuesday.

The Democratic leader said he hopes if chief of state Nguyen Van Thieu is elected president he will carry out a campaign promise to invite peace negotiations with the Viet Cong.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said he had heard no intimations the elections will alter American policies. He added that whatever happens he does not expect the President to stop the bombing.

Dirksen, a supporter of Johnson's war course, said he has had no word the President is planning any U. N. move.

Thieu Wants Negotiations With North

SAIGON (AP) — Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, the front-running military candidate for president in Sunday's elections, said today that if elected he may try to halt the bombing of North Vietnam for more than the one week he has been proposing.

A longer pause would depend on a favorable response from Hanoi and agreement from the United States, Thieu stressed in a talk with newsmen after a campaign speech to more than 10,000 Vietnamese troops.

Thieu told the troops: "We are ready to negotiate. The problem is whether North Vietnam will accept. It is up to them."

He told newsmen later that if elected, "I will talk to North Vietnam first. If I get a favorable response, then I will talk to the Americans and may ask for more than one week."

Observers in Saigon, however, think it unlikely that the United States would go along with even a one-week pause in air strikes unless Hanoi indicated it would reciprocate.

Hamilton Man Gets Position at Miami

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Appointment of Marc W. Henneberger of Hamilton as Miami University's director of purchases and central service was announced Wednesday by Dr. Philip R. Shriver, president of the university.

Henneberger, who has been assistant director of purchases since 1965, succeeds Russell G. Young, who died Aug. 12. He formerly was vice president and general manager of the Henneberger Lumber Co. of Hamilton.

the elections to give civilian candidates more time for campaigning, predicted the balloting will mark "the beginning of a new American policy."

In Boston, Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the American Legion convention that peace movements calling for negotiations now would have the United States stop the bombing while North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh's "half of the war goes on unabated."

Communists Free 1,000 From Prison

SAIGON (AP) — Communist soldiers boldly moved into a provincial capital early today under cover of a heavy mortar barrage and freed 1,000 prisoners in the most dramatic action of the Red campaign to disrupt and discredit South Vietnam's presidential elections.

A wave of attacks in the five provinces making up the war zone bordering North Vietnam indicated an all-out effort to spread disaffection in the sector which has always been the most politically sensitive in the nation.

There were 29 reported attacks or incidents in the 1st Corps war zone, where the ground war and the political war have blended into a single fierce struggle in the past few days. While the attack on the jail in Quang Ngai was the most spectacular Red assault, the Communists also hit a power station, a helicopter field, a U.S. military advisory compound, a U.S. Seabee camp and a radio station.

The South Vietnamese suffered many casualties, including 70 killed and 104 wounded in a combined mortar and ground attack on a Vietnamese army post and district headquarters at Tam Ky.

Three Americans were reported killed and 44 wounded, while known Communist losses were six killed at Quang Ngai and 14 killed at Tam Ky.

In addition to the attacks in the 1st Corps area, Red mortars shelled a camp in the highland city of Dalat, and wounded 19 Americans Tuesday night in a barrage on artillery positions 20 miles northeast of Saigon.

Overshadowed by the intensified Communist campaign in the South, American pilots kept up heavy attacks on North Vietnam and flew 151 missions Tuesday. The U.S. Command said one Marina A4 Skyhawk was lost and the pilot was missing. It was the 664th U.S. combat plane reported lost in the northern air war.

New Liquor Tax Effective Friday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The increase in sales tax from 3 to 4 per cent will go into effect in all state liquor stores Friday, Liquor Director Donald D. Cook said today.

Earlier, the department had set Oct. 2 as the effective date because posted price lists could not be printed in time. But Cook said store managers will be supplied with temporary lists being prepared today and be flown to all major cities by Department of Commerce planes. He noted that the increased sales tax will be added by the clerk making the sale.

99 Per Cent Don't Know, Survey Shows

SAIGON (AP) — Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, the military candidates for president and vice president in South Vietnam's election Sunday, appear certain to carry the rural areas where 80 per cent of the voters live.

The leading civilian candidate, former Premier Tran Van Huong, is making inroads against the military ticket in the urban areas of the eight major cities. He is expected to get more votes than his nine civilian rivals but not nearly enough to overtake the powerful military bloc.

These are the conclusions of Associated Press correspondents who felt the pulse of the country in interview with more than 300 voters scattered from South Vietnam's northernmost provinces down into the Mekong delta.

The interviews indicated that only about one per cent of the 5.85 million registered voters have any idea of the campaign issues.

The Saigon intellectuals, the only people really discussing the election with any depth, are generally opposed to the military and support one of the four leading civilian tickets. One civilian slate headed by the Dai Viet party leader, Ha Thuc Ky, appears to have a major following in the northern provinces around Da Nang and Quang Tri. The Dai Viet political machine has been active there for years.

The three other leading civilians have pockets of support in the old imperial city of Hue, Da Nang, Nha Trang on the central coast, Dalat, Saigon and the delta cities of Can Tho and My Tho.

More than half of those interviewed said they were either undecided or did not wish to discuss their vote. Among the undecided were the rice farmers, drivers of bicycle cabs, vendors in the market places and soldiers in the countryside.

This bloc comprise roughly 80 per cent of the voters and will be decisive. But the military slate will probably capture most of this vote because the government structure that Thieu and Ky control spreads its roots so deep into the population that the civilian candidates cannot hope to match its influence.

In the rural areas, where the government has a tight rein on the villages and hamlets under its control, registration for the elections has gone up. In the cities it has declined since the last election.

In Saigon only 176,000 voters have registered out of 600,000 eligible. Although 60 per cent of the population of Vietnam is regarded as rural, 80 per cent of the registered voters are from the countryside.

The low city registration will reduce the vote for the civilian candidates.

Voters say the overriding election issue is peace, an end to the war that has split Vietnam asunder and grown into greater intensity with each day. "There is only one problem in Vietnam," said an appliance store owner in Hue, "and that is the war."

"I am for the man who will try to achieve peace," said a Roman Catholic priest in Da

$5 Billion OKd To Help Needy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor Committee largely ignored a list of presidential suggestions as it approved a $5.6 billion antipoverity package.

The bill includes a separate $2.8 billion slum emergency plan for which the administration says funds are not available.

The measure, sent Tuesday to the Senate floor, by a 12-3 vote, would authorize $2.26 billion, or $600 million more than last year, to carry on the antipoverity program during the current fiscal year.

The emergency program, for which Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., its sponsor, asked $3 billion, was cut by $200 million and approved 10 to 6.

Clark said he expects a floor fight on the plan, which he called a positive response to slum problems and urban rioting. It would provide $2.5 billion over two years to create jobs in industry and on government projects.

It would also set up a $300 million loan fund to re-establish businesses damaged or destroyed by rioting.

The White House suggestions were contained in a memo circulated privately last week to Democratic members of the committee.

It specifically demanded that Clark's emergency program be excised from the antipoverity bill.

"OEO is trying to preserve what we have," the memo stated. "You know the President has requested a tax increase."

The President, the memo said, was irritated by the revisions made in a Labor subcommittee because he "has spent more time on the language in this bill personally than he has on any other domestic legislation that has been sent to the Congress this year."

All Labor Committee Democrats except Chairman Lister Hill of Alabama voted to approve the bill. Three Republicans voted for the bill and three were opposed.

Rockwell Funeral Halted; Nazis' Next Move Awaited

CULPEPER, Va. (AP) — It was just the kind of near-funeral George Lincoln Rockwell might have wanted.

His small, fanatic band of American Nazis gained center stage in full glare of the national spotlight Tuesday—confronted by the U.S. Army, surrounded by television cameras.

Rockwell had cherished publicity—and did many things to get it.

As a corpse he attained his ultimate publicity.

But at the end of a day at times so weird it was like a bad movie, the body of the slain "fuerher" remained unburied and the Nazis refused to reveal where his body was or what they planned to do with it.

Rockwell's followers refused to doff their Nazi insignia and leave their swastika flag behind to enter the peaceful Little Culpeper National Cemetery and bury their assassinated chief.

But those were the ground rules laid down by the Army. And when it came time for the government gravediggers to go home the Army rescinded its permission for ex-Navy Cmdr. Rockwell to be interred in Culpeper—or any other military cemetery.

A short, trim, soft-spoken major general announced the Army's change of heart after the hearse bearing Rockwell surrounded by five uniformed mourners and perhaps two dozen in civilian clothes, spent five hours at the gate of the shaded, usually serene burial ground.

A chorus of booing and "Heil Hitler!"—arms upraised and all—greeted the announcement by Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner, Army provost marshal.

But the Nazis returned to their headquarters in Arlington, Va., to ponder what to do with their leader, who was killed by a sniper outside a coin laundry last Friday.

They wouldn't talk to news-men Tuesday night. And the Arlington funeral home to which the body was returned refused to say if it was still there.

Turner said the Nazis may apply anew for burial in a military cemetery but added the request "will be considered in light of today's events. The Department of the Army will require specific assurance the activities will be in accordance with its regulations." The Pentagon said Tuesday night no new request had been received.

Auto Tax Hike Effective Friday

Sales tax hikes assessed to automobiles, trailers and other vehicles will go into effect 12:01 a.m. Friday.

The actual time of the sale will determine whether the tax will be figured at three or four per cent, according to Sara Dresbach, clerk of courts. If a sales contract is signed before midnight Thursday, the three per cent tax will be assessed, regardless of when the bank or other financial agent certifies credit.

Sales of vehicles must be signed and notarized with the date of sale included before midnight Thursday, otherwise the tax will be computed at four per cent.

If an auto is on order and not yet received, the tax will be set at three per cent if a contract has been signed before midnight Thursday. The transaction must be a bona fide sale.

Nasser Foils Try at Coup By Military

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Reports circulated in Arab capitals today that Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser had foiled a planned coup against his government by arresting Marshal Abdel Abdul Hakim Amer, his former trusted lieutenant, and a large number of senior army officers.

The reports did not appear in print in most Arab capitals where the press is controlled, but a Kuwait newspaper carried an account and diplomatic sources said they had picked up various versions of it in Algiers, Khartoum, Tunis and other Arab points.

"We have no direct information," one Western diplomatic source in the Middle East said. "All our reports are second-hand. But they have spread so wide and so fast that we are inclined to believe something is going on in Cairo."

Sources described the reported purge as a series of "pre-emptive house arrests."

Up to 150 Egyptian generals and colonels have been reported detained.

Sabina Girl Gets Record Hog Price

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The price of ham soared at the Ohio State Fair Tuesday as a record of $12.20 per pound was paid for the champion junior fair Hampshire barrow.

The animal was shown by Belinda Myers of Sabina and was purchased by Bob Evans Sausages of Columbus for five cents a pound more than the old record.

And a year of hard work paid off for a Morrow County youth, Jim Jagger, of near Mount Gilead, who won the Borden Sweepstakes, presented each year to the junior fair livestock exhibitor who wins the highest amount in premiums.

Attendance Tuesday was 98,845, making the total for the first six days 828,913. Officials said the total is about 29,000 below that for the first six days of the 1966 fair.

Today will be Akron Day and Ohio Fair Manager's Day, with Diana Ross and The Supremes, Herb Alpert and the Tijuana Brass and Bill and Boyd providing the free entertainment in the grandstand.

3 Writers Go on Trial In Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Three Soviet writers went on trial today in what appeared to be part of the continuing attempt by authorities to stamp out a literary underground which questions the Soviet system.

A man at the entrance to a Moscow city court said three writers were on trial. He said one was Alexander Dobrovolsky, a little-known poet in his early 30s, but declined to identify the others.

In Oslo Tuesday, Gunnar Moen, chairman of the Norwegian Committee for Solidarity with Imprisoned Soviet Intellectuals, said Dobrovolsky and three others would go on trial today. He said the other three were Vadim Delone, Evgeny Kushev and Vera Lashkova, a 21-year-old theatrical production student.

It could not be determined immediately why only three persons were reported on trial.

The man at the court entrance said the courtroom was crowded and Western reporters could not enter.

Mao Forces Kill Rebels Near Canton

HONG KONG (AP) — Communist Chinese gunboats blew apart an anti-Maoist armed junk and Red army units turned tanks on an anti-Mao mob in Canton, according to reports reaching Hong Kong today.

Portuguese colony of Macao reported nearly a dozen rebels opposed to Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung were killed in the running battle between three gunboats and an armed junk in the Pearl River between Macao and Canton, 40 miles away.

Travelers from Macao said the Red army sent two tanks crashing into a crowd of several thousand anti-Maoists at Canton. They reported the crowd captured the tanks and pulled out their crews but were not able to say what happened to the tank men.

Visitors to Hong Kong from Canton reported that most of the South China city's factories have stopped production since late July because of Red Guard disturbances.

FHA Grant . . Peking Restricts Britons' Travel

THE county contains 15 townships and 45 areas of residential development. All developments are rural in nature and less than 5,500 population except Circleville.

The report continued to state that of the 45 areas of residential development there are 41 areas without water systems and 43 areas without central sewage facilities.

The need for these water and sewage systems can be expected to increase as the county continues to grow as influenced by the rapid growth of Franklin County adjacent to the northern boundary, the proposal stated.

The final report is to contain maps, including those on a planning area, topographical, soil structure, existing land use and one pointing out existing water and sewer systems.

Harden has termed the need for comprehensive water and sewage planning as "critical." He said that the sudden "springing up" of subdivisions throughout the county proposes a threat to the health and welfare of people living within the areas.

The 43 residential developments without sewage disposal systems, for the most part, use septic tanks. He noted that in many cases homes are built so close together the ground cannot absorb the waste, causing it to filter back into household water supplies.

Harden pointed out that Circleville is the only area within the county that will not be included in the comprehensive planning. He said that the federal grants were set up for residential developments with a population not exceeding 5,500.

Nixon May Enter Four Primaries

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon's new campaign chief indicates the former vice president will enter at least four state primaries next year in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

Plans are under way, Henry Bellmon told a Tuesday news conference, to set up Nixon for President committees soon in "the crucial primary states of Nebraska, New Hampshire and Oregon." Such a committee already is at work in Wisconsin, which also has a presidential primary. Bellmon, the ex-governor of Oklahoma who recently succeeded Dr. Gaylor Parkinson of San Diego as national chairman of Nixon for President, said he expected Nixon to announce his candidacy early next year.

TOKYO (AP) — Red China today canceled exit visas of British diplomats stationed in Peking, ordered their movements confined to 400-yard trips between home and office and threatened further retaliation for clashes between London police and Chinese mission personnel who fought them with axes and bats.

Peking Radio, charging that the British government "instigated ruffians to beat up"

Chinese diplomats in London in a wild melee Tuesday, said in a broadcast that no British personnel would be allowed to leave their legation compound without submitting applications 48 hours in advance.

"The Chinese government hereby asks the British government in all seriousness: Where do you want to push the relations between China and Britain?" the broadcast said.

There was no immediate response in London, but Foreign Office sources indicated that the only course open to the British was to try to prevent new incidents at the Chinese mission in order not to endanger the British in Peking further. The Foreign Office said the Chinese instigated the clashes.

About 50 police officers, with 40 men in reserve, remained on duty near the Chinese mission building on the fringe of London's fashionable Mayfair District. The police broke up a crowd of more than 100 just before midnight, and Scotland Yard banned demonstrations and gatherings in eight streets around the legation.

Two clashes jarred the area Tuesday when 25 to 30 members of the Chinese legation, some brandishing bats, axes, and the Red Book of the "Thoughts of Mao Tse-tung," charged sightseers who have been gathering outside the building since the burning of Britain's mission in Peking last week.

British police reported eight Chinese and three policemen went to hospitals with injuries. Peking Radio claimed three of its envoys were "seriously wounded from brutal beatings and more than 10 others have been injured."

The brawling, against a background of continuing Chinese Communist terrorism in Britain's crown colony of Hong Kong, followed by a week the invasion of the British chancery in Peking by Red Guards who set it aflame, then beat up legation staff members.

Peking's new restrictions affect 54 Britons, including wives and children. They live in a compound of apartments about 400 yards from the fire-damaged legation headquarters. Informed sources in London suggested three possible Chinese motives were behind the fighting Tuesday: To force a rupture of diplomatic relations, to provide an excuse for new violence against Britons in China, or to furnish propaganda for use against Britain.

3 Americans Killed On Korean Front
SEOUL (AP) — Mines believed planted by North Koreans in the American sector of the Korean demilitarized zone near Panmunjom exploded under two trucks Tuesday killing three American soldiers and wounding five, reliable American sources report.

Logan Men Cleared of 2 Charges

LOGAN, Ohio (AP) — An indictment for conflict of interest has been dismissed against two former Hocking Valley Community Hospital officials but they still faced two other charges.

Hocking County Common Pleas Judge Harley Meyer threw out the indictment Tuesday charging John Cappington, former administrator, and Sterling Lewis, former medical laboratory director.

The indictment accused them of having interest in hospital property in the form of laboratory tests while holding positions of trust.

But the judge overruled another indictments which charge Lewis as the principal and Cappington as an accomplice in presenting bills for payment for laboratory services which were allegedly not performed.

Lewis has an interest in the Lindsey Consulting Service which made laboratory tests for the hospital on a contract basis. Lewis was accused of presenting bills and Sappington of approving their payment.

Trial of the two officials had been set for Sept. 11 but has been postponed at request of defense counsel.

Tropical Storm Now in Atlantic; No Threat Yet

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Ariene, first tropical storm of the season, formed in the eastern Atlantic today 2,500 miles east of Miami, the National Hurricane Center reported.

The storm's 60-mile-an-hour winds were expected to reach hurricane force by Thursday, the center said.

Ariene was moving toward the northwest at 17 miles per hour and was expected to maintain the same course and forward speed during the next 24 hours.

An advisory issued by the Weather Bureau said the storm could threaten no land area for at least two days.

Summit of Arabs May Be Disaster

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and Sudan's Premier Mohamed Mahgoub made frantic efforts today to prevent the Arab summit conference from foundering in a storm of bickering and boycott.

$5 Billion OKd To Help Needy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor Committee largely ignored a list of presidential suggestions as it approved a $5.06 billion antipoverity package.

The bill includes a separate $2.8 billion slum emergency plan for which the administration says funds are not available.

The measure, sent Tuesday to the Senate floor, by a 12-3 vote, would authorize $2.26 billion, or $600 million more than last year, to carry on the antipoverity program during the current fiscal year.

The emergency program, for which Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., its sponsor, asked $3 billion, was cut by $200 million and approved 10 to 6.

Clark said he expects a floor fight on the plan, which he called a positive response to slum problems and urban rioting. It would provide $2.5 billion over two years to create jobs in industry and on government projects.

It would also set up a $300 million loan fund to re-establish businesses damaged or destroyed by rioting.

The White House suggestions were contained in a memo circulated privately last week to Democratic members of the committee.

It specifically demanded that Clark's emergency program be excised from the antipoverity bill.

"OEO is trying to preserve what we have," the memo stated. "You know the President has requested a tax increase."

The President, the memo said, was irritated by the revisions made in a Labor subcommittee because he "has spent more time on the language in this bill personally than he has on any other domestic legislation that has been sent to the Congress this year."

All Labor Committee Democrats except Chairman Lister Hill of Alabama voted to approve the bill. Three Republicans voted for the bill and three were opposed.

Rockwell Funeral Halted; Nazis' Next Move Awaited

CULPEPER, Va. (AP) — It was just the kind of near-funeral George Lincoln Rockwell might have wanted.

His small, fanatic band of American Nazis gained center stage in full glare of the national spotlight Tuesday—confronted by the U.S. Army, surrounded by television cameras.

Rockwell had cherished publicity—and did many things to get it.

As a corpse he attained his ultimate publicity.

But at the end of a day at times so weird it was like a bad movie, the body of the slain "fuerher" remained unburied and the Nazis refused to reveal where his body was or what they planned to do with it.

Rockwell's followers refused to doff their Nazi insignia and leave their swastika flag behind to enter the peaceful little Culpeper National Cemetery and bury their assassinated chief.

But those were the ground rules laid down by the Army. And when it came time for the government gravediggers to go home the Army rescinded its permission for ex-Navy Cmdr. Rockwell to be interred in Culpeper—or any other military cemetery.

A short, trim, soft-spoken major general announced the Army's change of heart after the hearse bearing Rockwell surrounded by five uniformed mourners and perhaps two dozen in civilian clothes, spent five hours at the gate of the shaded, usually serene burial ground.

A chorus of booing and "Heil Hitler!"—arms upraised and all—greeted the announcement by Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner, Army provost marshal.

But the Nazis returned to their headquarters in Arlington, Va., to ponder what to do with their leader, who was killed by a sniper outside a coin laundry last Friday.

They wouldn't talk to newsmen Tuesday night. And the Arlington funeral home to which the body was returned refused to say if it was still there.

Turner said the Nazis may apply anew for burial in a military cemetery but added the request "will be considered in light of today's events. The Department of the Army will require specific insurance the activities will be in accordance with its regulations." The Pentagon said Tuesday night no new request had been received.

Auto Tax Hike Effective Friday

Sales tax hikes assessed to automobiles, trailers and other vehicles will go into effect 12:01 a.m. Friday.

The actual time of the sale will determine whether the tax will be figured at three or four per cent, according to Sara Dresbach, clerk of courts. If a sales contract is signed before midnight Thursday, the three per cent tax will be assessed, regardless of when the bank or other financial agent certifies credit.

Sales of vehicles must be signed and notarized with the date of sale included before midnight Thursday, otherwise the tax will be computed at four per cent.

If an auto is on order and not yet received, the tax will be set at three per cent if a contract has been signed before midnight Thursday. The transaction must be a bona fide sale.

Nasser Foils Try at Coup By Military

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Reports circulated in Arab capitals today that Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser had foiled a planned coup against his government by arresting Marshal Abdel Abdul Hakim Amer, his former trusted lieutenant, and a large number of senior army officers.

The reports did not appear in print in most Arab capitals where the press is controlled, but a Kuwait newspaper carried an account and diplomatic sources said they had picked up various versions of it in Algiers, Khartoum, Tunis and other Arab points.

"We have no direct information," one Western diplomatic source in the Middle East said. "All our reports are second-hand. But they have spread so wide and so fast that we are inclined to believe something is going on in Cairo."

Sources described the reported purge as a series of "pre-emptive house arrests."

Up to 150 Egyptian generals and colonels have been reported detained.

Sabina Girl Gets Record Hog Price

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The price of ham soared at the Ohio State Fair Tuesday as a record of $12.20 per pound was paid for the champion junior fair Hampshire barrow.

The animal was shown by Belinda Myers of Sabina and was purchased by Bob Evans Sausages of Columbus for five cents a pound more than the old record.

And a year of hard work paid off for a Morrow County youth, Jim Jagger, of near Mount Gilead, who won the Borden Sweepstakes, presented each year to the junior fair livestock exhibitor who wins the highest amount in premiums.

Attendance Tuesday was 98,845, making the total for the first six days 828,913. Officials said the total is about 29,000 below that for the first six days of the 1966 fair.

Today will be Akron Day and Ohio Fair Manager Day, with Diana Ross and The Supremes, Herb Alpert and the Tijuana Brass and Bill and Boyd providing the free entertainment in the grandstand.

3 Writers Go on Trial In Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Three Soviet writers went on trial today in what appeared to be part of the continuing attempt by authorities to stamp out a literary underground which questions the Soviet system.

A man at the entrance to a Moscow city court said three writers were on trial. He said one was Alexander Dobrovolsky, a little-known poet in his early 30s, but declined to identify the others.

In Oslo Tuesday, Gunnar Moen, chairman of the Norwegian Committee for Solidarity with Imprisoned Soviet Intellectuals, said Dobrovolsky and three others would go on trial today. He said the other three were Vadim Delone, Evgeny Kushev and Vera Lashkova, a 21-year-old theatrical production student.

It could not be determined immediately why only three persons were reported on trial.

The man at the court entrance said the courtroom was crowded and Western reporters could not enter.

Mao Forces Kill Rebels Near Canton

HONG KONG (AP) — Communist Chinese gunboats blew apart an anti-Maoist armed junk and Red army units turned tanks on an anti-Mao mob in Canton, according to reports reaching Hong Kong today.

Portuguese colony of Macao reported nearly a dozen rebels opposed to Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung were killed in the running battle between three gunboats and an armed junk in the Pearl River between Macao and Canton, 40 miles away.

Travelers from Macao said the Red army sent two tanks crashing into a crowd of several thousand anti-Maoists at Canton. They reported the crowd captured the tanks and pulled out their crews but were not able to say what happened to the tank men.

Visitors to Hong Kong from Canton reported that most of the South China city's factories have stopped production since late July because of Red Guard disturbances.

FHA Grant . . . Peking Restricts Britons' Travel

THE county contains 15 townships and 45 areas of residential development. All developments are rural in nature and less than 5,500 population except Circleville.

The report continued to state that of the 45 areas of residential development there are 41 areas without water systems and 43 areas without central sewage facilities.

The need for these water and sewage systems can be expected to increase as the county continues to grow as influenced by the rapid growth of Franklin County adjacent to the northern boundary, the proposal stated.

The final report is to contain maps, including those on a planning area, topographical, soil structure, existing land use and one pointing out existing water and sewer systems.

Harden has termed the need for comprehensive water and sewage planning as "critical." He said that the sudden "springing up" of subdivisions throughout the county proposes a threat to the health and welfare of people living within the areas.

The 43 residential developments without sewage disposal systems, for the most part, use septic tanks. He noted that in many cases homes are built so close together the ground cannot absorb the waste, causing it to filter back into household water supplies. Harden pointed out that Circleville is the only area within the county that will not be included in the comprehensive planning. He said that the federal grants were set up for residential developments with a population not exceeding 5,500.

Nixon May Enter Four Primaries

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon's new campaign chief indicates the former vice president will enter at least four state primaries next year in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

Plans are under way, Henry Bellmon told a Tuesday news conference, to set up Nixon for President committees soon in "the crucial primary states of Nebraska, New Hampshire and Oregon." Such a committee already is at work in Wisconsin, which also has a presidential primary. Bellmon, the ex-governor of Oklahoma who recently succeeded Dr. Gaylor Parkinson of San Diego as national chairman of Nixon for President, said he expected Nixon to announce his candidacy early next year.

Chinese diplomats in London in a wild melee Tuesday, said in a broadcast that no British personnel would be allowed to leave their legation compound without submitting applications 48 hours in advance.

"The Chinese government hereby asks the British government in all seriousness: Where do you want to push the relations between China and Britain?" the broadcast said.

There was no immediate response in London, but Foreign Office sources indicated that the only course open to the British was to try to prevent new incidents at the Chinese mission in order not to endanger the British in Peking further. The Foreign Office said the Chinese instigated the clashes.

About 50 police officers, with 40 men in reserve, remained on duty near the Chinese mission building on the fringe of London's fashionable Mayfair District. The police broke up a crowd of more than 100 just before midnight, and Scotland Yard banned demonstrations and gatherings in eight streets around the legation.

Two clashes jarred the area Tuesday when 25 to 30 members of the Chinese legation, some brandishing bats, axes, and the Red Book of the "Thoughts of Mao Tse-tung," charged sightseers who have been gathering outside the building since the burning of Britain's mission in Peking last week.

British police reported eight Chinese and three policemen went to hospitals with injuries. Peking Radio claimed three of its envoys were "seriously wounded from brutal beatings and more than 10 others have been injured."

The brawling, against a background of continuing Chinese Communist terrorism in Britain's crown colony of Hong Kong, followed by a week the invasion of the British chancery in Peking by Red Guards who set it aflame, then beat up legation staff members.

Peking's new restrictions affect 54 Britons, including wives and children. They live in a compound of apartments about 400 yards from the fire-damaged legation headquarters.

Informed sources in London suggested three possible Chinese motives were behind the fighting Tuesday: To force a rupture of diplomatic relations, to provide an excuse for new violence against Britons in China, or to furnish propaganda for use against Britain.

3 Americans Killed On Korean Front

SEOUL (AP) — Mines believed planted by North Koreans in the American sector of the Korean demilitarized zone near Panmunjon exploded under two trucks Tuesday killing three American soldiers and wounding five, reliable American sources report.

The mine blasts brought U.S. casualties on Korea's western front to eight killed and 37 wounded this month.

Logan Men Cleared of 2 Charges

LOGAN, Ohio (AP)—An indictment for conflict of interest has been dismissed against two former Hocking Valley Community Hospital officials but they still faced two other charges.

Hocking County Common Pleas Judge Harley Meyer threw out the indictment Tuesday charging John Cappington, former administrator, and Sterling Lewis, former medical laboratory director.

The indictment accused them of having interest in hospital property in the form of laboratory tests while holding positions of trust.

But the judge overruled another indictment which charge Lewis as the principal and Cappington as an accomplice in presenting bills for payment for laboratory services which were allegedly not performed.

Lewis has an interest in the Lindsey Consulting Service which made laboratory tests for the hospital on a contract basis. Lewis was accused of presenting bills and Cappington of approving their payment.

Trial of the two officials had been set for Sept. 11 but has been postponed at request of defense counsel.

Tropical Storm Now in Atlantic; No Threat Yet

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Arlene, first tropical storm of the season, formed in the eastern Atlantic today 2,500 miles east of Miami, the National Hurricane Center reported.

The storm's 60-mile-an-hour winds were expected to reach hurricane force by Thursday, the center said.

Arlene was moving toward the northwest at 17 miles per hour and was expected to maintain the same course and forward speed during the next 24 hours.

An advisory issued by the Weather Bureau said the storm could threaten no land area for at least two days.

Summit of Arabs May Be Disaster

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and Sudan's Premier Mohamed Mahgoub made frantic efforts today to prevent the Arab summit conference from foundering in a storm of bickering and boycott.

Mahgoub met until the early hours with Syrian Foreign Minister Ibrahim Makhos, whose delegation stayed out of the opening session Tuesday night.

With them was Algerian Foreign Minister Abdel Aziz Bouta fleka, whom Mahgoub enlisted to persuade the Syrians to remain in Khartoum.

County Bond Sales Total $45,353

July sales of Freedom Shares and Series E and H United States Savings bonds in Pickaway County amounted to $45,353, according to Kenneth Fosnaugh, volunteer bond chairman.

The total collected represents 50 per cent of the annual sales goal. Sales over Ohio totaled $27.8 million, or 52 per cent of the yearly goal.

More Pennies

Pockets already laden with sales-tax pennies are likely to weigh still more after Congress finishes with the administration's proposed postal rate increases. After barely five years, the nickel letter appears about to give way to one costing six cents.

The change is bound to boost penny production at the Mint, since first-class letters are counted on for more than 60 per cent of postal revenue under the administration's program. There'll still be a place, if relatively minor, for the 5-cent stamp. It'll be switched to postal cards (which went for a penny as recently as 1951) and probably to greeting cards as well.

This might be just enough to force the pruning of Christmas-card lists that many vow to undertake every Dec. 26.

Food for Thought

While it's very doubtful that many restaurant owners or workers cheat their customers, some persons have wondered on occasion if their counterparts at many fairs and exhibitions are as pure as the driven snow.

In Poland, if people dealing in food or drink are caught cheating customers, the judge treats them to a lengthy jail term. For example, a barmaid in Warsaw got eight years in prison the other day for cheating a customer, while three leading restaurant managers in the same city were given seven years each.

Overcharging, poor food and watered-down drinks are not only causes for customer alarm but they should result in those responsible for the outrages receiving their just desserts.

Unhonored Guests

Canadians are not noted for their enthusiasm over the war in Vietnam but some are apparently even less so about the American youths who have crossed their border to avoid service in it.

It seems that a number of Toronto businessmen are reluctant to hide them, and a spokesman for a group of draft evaders has protested that "our political beliefs should not make us ineligible for work."

Though Canada has granted "asylum" to these men, they can hardly expect to be treated as honored guests by a nation friendly to the one upon which they have turned their backs.

And most employers, Canadian or otherwise, do not put unrepentant lawbreakers at the top of their hiring lists, whatever political beliefs may be involved.

Outdated Speech Material

I hate to say it, but someone has been selling Governor George Romney of Michigan some speech material that is at least a year out of date.

The Governor turned up at the University of Michigan the other day to tell an International Congress of Orientalists that we ought not to be "rigid" in dealing with Red China, and that, assuming a period of good behavior in Peking, we should be ready to welcome the mainland Chinese side by side in the UN with Chiang Kai-shek's nationalists. I don't know how many times this particular speech was made during the big debate on China policy at the UN in 1966, whether by Ripon Republicans or ADA Democrats, or graduate students of the Professor John Fairbank-Owen Latimore dispensation. All the assumptions behind the speech were irrelevant then. But they are ten times as irrelevant today.

In the first place, the question of good behavior doesn't interest the Red Chinese any more than it interested Trotsky and Lenin when they were about to pull down the Kerensky regime in Russia. Hasn't the Governor been following the Maoist

"cultural revolution"? Doesn't he know that the Maoists are quite universal with their insults? They are toughest on their brother Marxists, the Moscow Communists, even to the point of roughing up Russian sailors. The British went out of their way to recognize Red China a long time ago, and Canada has saved the lives of millions in China with its wheat sales, but now the Maoists are delivering ultimatums to London over the question of Hong Kong. As these words are written, Peking is still holding Anthony Grey, a Peking correspondent for the British Reuters news agency, in retaliation for the arrest in Hong Kong of a Chinese press association man who incited a riot.

Telling Peking that we might consider admitting Red China to the UN on condition of good behavior is like telling Stokely Carmichael or Rap Brown that they would be welcome in Grosse Pointe or Boston North Shore society circles if only they would stop talking about burning America down. Just as Carmichael and Brown aren't interested in qualifying for the Kiwanis Club, so Mao Tse-tung has no desire to walk in polite international company. He wants to pull the bourgeois western nations down along with their "revisionist allies" in Moscow, and he has no intention of behaving like a gentleman either inside the UN or outside of it.

Again, Governor Romney is beating a dead horse when he warns Secretary of State Dean Rusk against being "fixed" in his China policy. Rusk couldn't be "fixed" if he tried, for no one knows what is happening in mainland China to be "fixed" against. As far as can be ascertained from Japanese reading of the wall posters in Peking or the reports of refugees in Hong Kong or Taiwan, China has no government today whose writ runs from Manchuria to Sinkiang, or from Canton to Tibet. The Maoists inveigh against President Liu Shao-chi for "taking the capitalist road," but they have been talking this way for a year without daring to bring Liu to trial. One can only conclude that the Maoists don't dare put anything to the ultimate test for fear of unleashing a whirlwind. Everything in China is trembling on the brink of chaos, and it is a good guess that the "mandate of Heaven" is about to be lost by the Peking central authorities. When the "mandate of Heaven" is withdrawn, China traditionally reverts to warlordism, and the regions run themselves.

So it isn't even known how many Chinas we would be welcoming into the UN alongside the Taiwan Chinese. We could be asked to admit a Sinkiang with an autonomy equivalent to that of Russian-supporter Outer Mongolia, plus a nationalist Tibet, plus a "Manchurian People's Republic," plus one or more south China "nations" that had "taken the capitalist road."

The point to be made in this second half of 1967 is that the only sensible policy toward a China on the brink of civil dissolution is to stand aloof. Now is really the time to let dust settle. Dean Rusk is doing just that. Does Governor Romney want him to take sides with one Chinese faction or another? That would be a real "rigidity."

What is bothersome about the Romney words to the Orientalists is not that they were wrong. They were just irrelevant to the particular problem of the day. The Governor of Michigan ought to fire the "expert" who fed the words to him.

THEATRE buff Mayor John Lindsay's valiant effort to lure movie producers back to New York is achieving notable results. No less than a dozen big features are scheduled to be shot in Manhattan in the next three months. Douglas Watt asked one of the producers, "Do you expect Mayor Lindsay to visit the set while you're filming here?" "Whaddya mean, visit?" answered the producer. "He's going to dance in the picture!"

"One reads," notes Bernice Kite, "how lawyers are sometimes disbarred and ministers defrocked." "Would it not be in line," she continues, "if those of us in other walks of life should have equally magnificent terms for getting fired?" "Far Eastern diplomats, for instance, might be Disoriented, electricians Delighted, cashiers Distilled, Alpine climbers Dismounted, piano tuners Unstrung, and orchestra leaders Disbanded." By now I'm sure you have the idea.

A group of rapacious relatives gathered around the bedside of a desperately ill merchant. One of them, trying to appear solicitous, inquired, "Uncle Boris, if, unfortunately, you fail to survive this attack, where do you think you'd like to be buried?" Uncle Boris regarded his nephew balefully and whispered, "I don't know. Why don't you surprise me?"

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

What is meant by the stripping method for the removal of varicose veins?

Varicose veins are enlarged dilated veins of the feet and legs. They are frequently seen in women and in men past the age of 45.

The veins of the leg contain tiny valves which normally prevent the blood from backing up and stagnating. When these valves become damaged by pressure, blood dams back and accumulates in the veins of the limbs.

Pregnancy is a common cause of varicose veins. Standing in one position for long periods of time at a job can cause it. Not all varicose veins need surgery to relieve the symptoms of general fatigue caused by this condition.

There are three major types of treatment. Stripping is only one of them. In some cases, a special solution is injected into the vein. This chemical causes a clot which closes off the vein. Then the blood is sidetracked into another vein with perhaps better closing valves.

Another form of treatment is an operation by which specially chosen veins are tied and thus change the course of the blood flow in the veins.

Stripping is a special technique by which a long wire is threaded into the vein in the groin. The vein is then stripped almost like electricians use a "snake" to bring wire from one room to another. All types of varicose surgery is now relatively painless.

There are other forms of treatment for the removal and the tying off of the varicose veins. All of them are amazingly effective in bringing relief to patients, almost within 48 hours after the operation is performed.

The choice of a particular type of operation can only be made by the surgeon himself. Each individual case is carefully studied and evaluated before that decision is made. One procedure does not answer all of the problems for all patients.

Surgeons, especially specialists in vascular operations, are in the best position to choose the operation that will bring their patients the fastest, safest and longest-lasting benefits from surgery.

What is a strawberry tongue?

Is it the same as a geographic tongue?

The tongue is known to be an excellent mirror of disease elsewhere in the body. Many conditions can even be recognized by the condition, appearance and moisture of the tongue.

In scarlet fever the surface of the tongue peels away and develops a strawberry red color. Physicians rarely see scarlet fever these days, but formerly the tongue was an easily recognized signal of it.

Deep furrows of the tongue are not particularly attractive but are not serious or of any special medical importance. Geographic tongue is the term that is used to describe this odd appearance of the tongue.

The Business World

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — On Wall Street, "fill or kill" is not a threat made by a robber to a bank teller.

A "bear" is not a big, hairy beast that climbs trees in search of honey, and a "bull" is not a grouchy animal with long, pointy horns that likes to chase a matador around the bull ring.

The speech used by the men who work in the sprawling financial district at the lower end of Manhattan, loosely labeled "Wall Street", may sound like a foreign language to an outsider. Some of the phrases from the jargon of the financial world have crept into the common language, but many remain obscure or ill-defined to those not immediately associated with the scene.

"The language spoken in America's investment world may sound like a strange tongue to the newcomer," says the New York Stock Exchange in its booklet, "The Language of Investing".

"It is often vivid, colorful, flavored with the idioms of many eras. Some expressions have filtered down from the day when brokers traded securities under a buttonwood tree in the open air."

The buttonwood tree under which securities were sold in 1792 has been replaced by 18 trading posts on the floor of the exchange, familiarly known as "The Big Board".

It is at these posts that the bears, those who believe the market will decline, and the bulls, those who believe the market will rise, have their buy or sell orders carried out.

Being "short" on the market has nothing to do with a person's height. A short person often is a bear who, believing a stock will decline, sells it although he does not own any. His broker has borrowed the stock to make the sale, and the short person eventually must buy the same amount of stock as was borrowed for return to the lender.

The man who sells short hopes the stock will drop in price and that he will be able to buy enough at a lower price to meet his commitment and still make a profit.

A fill or kill order actually means what it says. It is a "market" or "limited price" order that is to be executed in its entirety as soon as it is represented in the "Trading Crowd", which means as soon as it reaches the proper trading post on the exchange floor. If it is not executed immediately it is treated as canceled.

The origin of much of Wall Street's jargon becomes obvious once the meaning is understood.

With others, such as bull and bear, even though the meaning is clear the origin remains obscure. There are several theories as to why these words are used.

One holds that bear may come from the old proverb of selling a bear's skin before the bear is caught, and that bull may come from the habit those powerful animals have of tossing things up into the air with their horns.

Rugs Lead to Riches

NEW YORK (AP) — Tired of hearing about men who went from rags to riches?

Listen, then, to the tale of Edward Fields, who has made riches from rugs.

Now one of the world's largest custom carpet manufacturers—his clientele ranges from the Shah of Iran to Mickey Mantle—Fields was launched on his path to fortune by a $500 wedding gift and a fortune-teller's tip.

Eddie has made a rug shaped like a piano for Liberace.

Eddie made the carpet for "Air Force One," the plane in which Lyndon B. Johnson stood when he took his first presidential oath.

Eddie made the huge oval "carpet of the United States in the Diplomatic Room at the White House.

Eddie has also made rugs or tapestries for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, the Vanderbilts, the Astors, Mary Martin, John Steinbeck, Prince Rainier of Monaco and Milton Berle.

In 1935 Eddie was 21 and pocket poor after five years of selling carpets for other firms. Then his brother, bandleader Shep Fields, gave him $500 as a wedding present.

"I decided to use it to start my own firm," said Eddie.

How was business? In two syllables it was "lousy." It was still bad in 1946 when Fields went to a night club in Hollywood to forget his troubles for the evening.

"A fortuneteller in the club told me that a man with the initials 'J.B.' would come into my life and change it," he recalled.

Soon after that Fields met an elderly Viennese, Joseph Blumfield, who had invented a hand-held rug-making machine. Eddie bought the gadget from Blumfield under an arrangement that guaranteed him lifetime royalties and then set about improving it.

That machine, nicknamed "the magic needle," began to stitch a pattern of wealth for Fields.

Eddie now has 250 of the machines, each of which, he says, can turn out as much work in a day as 20 Japanese hand workers. In a year, although he keeps production figures secret, he claims they enable him to manufacture as much yardage as the entire carpeting industry of Persia at its peak.

"I never have patented my magic needles, because it would simply make it that much easier for competitors to steal the secret," he said. "But they are checked out individually to my workmen, and at night I keep them locked in a steel and concrete vault. Only my son and I have keys to the vault."

But no machine by itself could explain Eddie's success. Showmanship runs in his family. Another brother, Freddie Fields, runs a talent agency which handles such entertainment notables as Barbra Streisand, Peter Sellers, Rock Hudson, and Phil Silvers. And Eddie is an outstanding showman himself.

The balding, fastidiously dressed manufacturer moves in fashionable society and top business circles, knows most of his famous customers on a first-name basis.

They pay without wincing prices that range from $350 to $20,000 for a carpet. Fields keeps a stock of 100,000 spools of wool, several thousand basic designs, and prides himself that no two of the 10,000 rugs he creates each year are exactly alike.

Miss Melissa Matz, sponsored to Buckeye Girl's State this year by the local American Legion Auxiliary, related events occurring during her trip at the Monday night meeting of the auxiliary in the post home.

Mrs. Orin Dreisbach, chaplain, opened the meeting with a prayer. A prayer was also said for Mrs. Mary Hedges, who is a patient in the hospital.

Mrs. Eleanor Price, president, conducted a short business session. Mrs. Martha LaGrow, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting and Mrs. Margaret Crites, treasurer gave the financial report.

Mrs. Bess Simison, rehabilitation chairman, reported on the monthly visit to Ward 211-C at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Chillicothe.

The unit gave Mrs. Roseann Stinson, child welfare chairman, a standing ovation for the excellent work she has been doing.

Miss Maggie Mavis, cards and flowers chairman, gave her report.

Mrs. Stenobe Stonerock, ways and means chairman, reported that the unit will have a rummage sale. Anyone having items to donate are asked to contact Mrs. Stonerock or Mrs. Price if unable to deliver items to Mrs. Stonerock's home at 425 E. Main St.

Mrs. Cecelia Hoffman, introduced Miss Matz for her report, after which refreshments were served by Mrs. Hoffman and Mrs. Stonerock.

Farm Bureau Women Meet

The Pickaway County Farm Bureau Women's Committee met at the Farm Bureau Home in Circleville for its regular meeting.

Mrs. Ralph Fisher gave a brief talk about her recent trip to Europe and pointed out the great differences in farming methods there and here in Ohio.

Plans for the annual Rural - Urban meeting featuring a salad smorgasbord were completed. Mrs. Fred McCoy and Mrs. Robert Call are program co-chairmen for the event to be held Sept. 18 at the 4-H and Grange Building at the county fair grounds. All Farm Bureau Women and their guests are invited to attend.

A fall rally for the Southeast District of Ohio was announced. The Women's meeting will be Oct. 16 at St. Clairsville. Reservations must be made at the Farm Bureau Office by Oct. 9.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Russell Yapple, Mrs. Arthur Leist, Mrs. John A. Stevenson, Mrs. Marvin Rittinger, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. McCoy, Mrs. Call, and Nelson Stevens, organization director.

BPW National Federation Plans Career Advancement

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following is the final article presenting information of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs Inc. The next series will concern the American Association of University Women, as part of the detailed accounts of local area women's clubs and organizations.

Circleville Business and Professional Women's Club is a member of a federation which is recognized as the leading organization in the country protecting and promoting the economic interests of all women in the United States.

Under the steering of Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, program chairman of the local group, the committee chairmen have arranged activity for 1967-68 that should aid in altering this statement in a recent publication by McGraw-Hill, "Woman power is one of America's greatest natural resources, but it is not being properly used. Women are shirking the jobs that put a premium on talent and brains."

The 1967-68 national theme used for program planning is "Plan for Progress, All Systems Go." This supports the general belief that continuous education is needed to help women in this space age fulfill their multiple roles in the world. The thinking process of the general public, women as well as men, according to BPW spokesmen say, need to be elevated when judging values of any career. Such

Pontious EUB Groups Meet

WSWS and Willing Worker Class of Pontious Evangelical United Brethren Church held their annual wiener roast at Ted Lewis Park recently with Mrs. Ethel Klingensmith as hostess.

Fifteen members and two guests, Misses Sue Timmons and Carol Kraft, were present.

The meeting was opened with prayer by the class president, Mrs. Jacob Glitt. The group sang "Bring Them In."

All members participated in the devotions which consisted of reading related Scripture passages concerning giving and entitled "God's Givings".

The song "Jesus Is All the World To Me" was sung by the group and Louise Glitt gave a reading entitled "My Father's Hand".

Rev. Wiley R. Baker led the group in prayer. Mrs. Louise Glitt presented an object lesson by making a flower arrangement. The title of the lesson was "The Beauty of Christ Shown Through My Garden". She followed this with a poem, "Peace of Mind". The group then sang "Bringing in the Sheaves".

Minutes of the July meeting were read by Grace Leist.

Rev. Baker expressed his gratitude to the group for sympathy cards and other expressions of sympathy in the loss of his only sister, Mrs. Nettie Hendershot, of Walker, W. Va.

Catherine Goodman, superintendent of Pontious EUB Sunday School, expressed thanks to Marie Brobst for her donation of flowers for church decoration.

Marguerite Stevenson gave a report of greeting cards sent during the month.

The service was then turned over to the WSWS with Edwina Holderman in charge. Mary Richards read roll call. Edwina Holderman presented a reading, entitled "Persecution" and also an article, "Starvation in India".

Marguerite Stevenson closed the meeting with prayer, after which the group joined in the wiener roast and other foods provided by the hostess.

The next meeting of the combined classes will be held at the home of Catherine Goodman, Route 2, Amanda, 2 p. m. Sept. 21.

Birthday Party Held Saturday In Gaines Home

Mrs. William Robinson, the former Treva Gaines, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., was honored on her birthday Saturday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gaines, Renick Ave.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is being picketed by a union representing 63,000 postal workers seeking a 15 per cent pay raise.

"Postal employees for the first time in history are openly talking of a strike," said Sidney A. Goodman, president of the National Postal Union. But he did add that under the law and the union's constitution, his members would be prevented from striking.

Asked what would happen if the pay hike isn't granted, Goodman replied: "We will take that up when we get to it."

A House subcommittee has approved a 6 per cent pay raise for postal workers this year and another 5 per cent raise for next year. Present pay scales provide for a postal clerk maximum of $7,267 after 21 years.

No Mourning After

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Sign on a downtown restaurant: "Drive Safely and Avoid the Mourning After."

Surgeon-General William H. Stewart said the problem is not well documented and needs federal research. But he added "it is established that certain widely used types of electronic devices are potentially capable of generating X rays and that other types of electromagnetic missions from such equipment can produce adverse biological effects."

Capital Footnotes

In an unusual comment for a visiting diplomat, Ambassador Bui Diem of South Vietnam told the National Press Club he thinks President Johnson will be re-elected next year. Foreign officials don't usually make predictions about U.S. elections.

The U.S. Weather Bureau reports that while the hurricane season is here again, there's no sign yet of any big blows. However a higher than usual number of tornadoes—829—have been reported so far this year.

Capital Quote

"We hope that American opinion will not judge our democracy by the fact that we do not have baby kissing or hand shaking in our campaign,"—Ambassador Bui Diem of South Vietnam, discussing the presidential campaign under way in his country during Washington speech.

Peaceful Uses of Space Symposium Slated

PAOLO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — The technical and legal implications of man studying his own planet from orbiting satellites will be examined at a three-day Peaceful Uses of Space Symposium in August at Stanford University.

Invited speakers, lawyers and scientists will analyze the benefits of viewing huge areas of earth from space, the formation of concepts of space law and future business prospects of peaceful space activity.

The symposium is co-sponsored by Stanford Law School and Sylvania Electric Products Inc.

Cleveland Schools
Hike Teachers' Pay

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Board of Education is boosting teacher salaries $400 a year starting Friday, even though state funds on which the raise is based won't be received until December.

The pay raise action was taken by the board Tuesday based on the addition of state funds approved last week by the legislature. The increase will boost pay scales to a top of $11,650 for a teacher with a master's degree and 36 years of experience.

Melissa Matz Speaks to Auxiliary Unit

Miss Melissa Matz, sponsored by Buckeye Girl's State this year by the local American Legion Auxiliary, related events occurring during her trip at the Monday night meeting of the auxiliary in the post home.

Mrs. Orin Dreisbach, chaplain, opened the meeting with a prayer. A prayer was also said for Mrs. Mary Hedges, who is a patient in the hospital.

Mrs. Eleanor Price, president, conducted a short business session. Mrs. Martha LaGrow, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting and Mrs. Margaret Crites, treasurer gave the financial report.

Mrs. Bess Simison, rehabilitation chairman, reported on the monthly visit to Ward 211-C at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Chillicothe.

The unit gave Mrs. Roseann Stinson, child welfare chairman, a standing ovation for the excellent work she has been doing.

Miss Maggie Mavis, cards and flowers chairman, gave her report.

Mrs. Stenobe Stonerock, ways and means chairman, reported that the unit will have a rummage sale. Anyone having items to donate are asked to contact Mrs. Stonerock or Mrs. Price if unable to deliver items to Mrs. Stonerock's home at 425 E. Main St.

Mrs. Cecelia Hoffman, introduced Miss Matz for her report, after which refreshments were served by Mrs. Hoffman and Mrs. Stonerock.

Farm Bureau Women Meet

The Pickaway County Farm Bureau Women's Committee met at the Farm Bureau Home in Circleville for its regular meeting.

Mrs. Ralph Fisher gave a brief talk about her recent trip to Europe and pointed out the great differences in farming methods there and here in Ohio.

Plans for the annual Rural - Urban meeting featuring a salad smorgasbord were completed. Mrs. Fred McCoy and Mrs. Robert Call are program co-chairmen for the event to be held Sept. 18 at the 4-H and Grange Building at the county fair grounds. All Farm Bureau Women and their guests are invited to attend.

A fall rally for the Southeast District of Ohio was announced. The Women's meeting will be Oct. 16 at St. Clairsville. Reservations must be made at the Farm Bureau Office by Oct. 9. Attending the meeting were Mrs. Russell Yapple, Mrs. Arthur Leist, Mrs. John A. Stevenson, Mrs. Marvin Rittinger, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. McCoy, Mrs. Call, and Nelson Stevens, organization director.

BPW National Federation Plans Career Advancement

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following is the final article presenting information of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs Inc. The next series will concern the American Association of University Women, as part of the detailed accounts of local area women's clubs and organizations.

Circleville Business and Professional Women's Club is a member of a federation which is recognized as the leading organization in the country protecting and promoting the economic interests of all women in the United States.

Under the steering of Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, program chairman of the local group, the committee chairmen have arranged activity for 1967-68 that should aid in altering this statement in a recent publication by McGraw-Hill, "Woman power is one of America's greatest natural resources, but it is not being properly used. Women are shirking the jobs that put a premium on talent and brains."

The 1967-68 national theme used for program planning is "Plan for Progress, All Systems Go." This supports the general belief that continuous education is needed to help women in this space age fulfill their multiple roles in the world. The thinking process of the general public, women as well as men, according to BPW spokesmen say, need to be elevated when judging values of any career. Such should help vanish such responses or explanations as "Oh, I'm just a housewife, just a teacher". It has been stated that "In today's world women do not have to choose between a family and a career, a highly satisfactory combination of both can be achieved."

Anticipation is strong that this progress program will help create constructive and appreciative concepts as to the value and place of the many "ships" that have a space in making or halting progress along the road of life, career wise or otherwise, friendship, partnership, leadership, relationship, citizenship, salesmanship, showmanship, hardship, and censorship.

For the National Federation with headquarters in Washington D. C., Ellen Hermans is executive director for the Federation and the Foundation, and Mrs. Lucille Snriver is Administrative Director.

For the local club the following elected officers are cooperating with goals reaching toward the objectives and many possible new horizons: Mrs. Leora Sayre, president; Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, first vice president; Miss JoAnn Brink, second vice president; Mrs. Franklin Crites, recording secretary; Mrs. David Whaley, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Harriet Kaylor, treasurer.

Appointed chairmen are: Mrs. Charles Curlett, world affairs; Mrs. Roloff Wolford and Mrs. James Ullman, civic participation; Mrs. Keith Wagner, personal development; Miss Daisy Karliskint, membership; Miss Mary K. Kennedy, federation; Miss Ruth Hulise, career advancement; Miss Miriam Weaver, finance; Dr. Nancy Lu Conrad, legislation; Miss Clarissa Talbut, anniversary; and Mrs. Freda Collins, public relations.

Fletcher-Graf Wedding Plans Completed

Miss Brenda D. Fletcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo L. Fletcher, New Holland, has chosen Saturday, Sept. 2, as the date for her wedding to Kenneth L. Graf, son of Mr. and Mrs. August W. Graf, 593 N. Court St.

The open church wedding will take place 7:30 p. m. in The First Methodist Church with Rev. Paul Wachs performing the ceremony.

Miss Fletcher has asked Miss Sharon L. Kellenberger to be her maid of honor. Bridesmaids will be Miss Lucinda Vincent and Mrs. Diana Eycke. Mrs. Carolyn Young, Mrs. Sondra Walker, Mrs. Lucille Jones and Mrs. Linda Rohrer will serve as hostesses. Miss Karen Wood will be in charge of the guest register.

Miss Paula Vincent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vincent, Orient, will be the flower girl. Mrs. Betty Dowler, organist, and Mrs. Norma Graham, soloist, will present the nuptial music.

Mr. Graf's brother, Walter Graf, will serve as best man. Ushers will be Stephen Jones, Michael McGinnis and Richard Jeffries.

Miss Fletcher, a graduate of Westfall High School is employed by the General Electric Co.

Mr. Graf, a graduate of Circleville High School is employed by the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.

Pontious EUB Groups Meet

WSWS and Willing Worker Class of Pontious Evangelical United Brethren Church held their annual wiener roast at Ted Lewis Park recently with Mrs. Ethel Klingensmith as hostess.

Fifteen members and two guests, Misses Sue Timmons and Carol Kraft, were present.

The meeting was opened with prayer by the class president, Mrs. Jacob Glitt. The group sang "Bring Them In."

All members participated in the devotion which consisted of reading related Scripture passages concerning giving and entitled "God's Givings".

The song "Jesus Is All the World To Me" was sung by the group and Louise Glitt gave a reading entitled "My Father's Hand".

Rev. Wiley R. Baker led the group in prayer. Mrs. Louise Glitt presented an object lesson by making a flower arrangement. The title of the lesson was "The Beauty of Christ Shown Through My Garden". She followed this with a poem, "Peace of Mind". The group then sang "Bringing in the Sheaves".

Minutes of the July meeting were read by Grace Leist.

Rev. Baker expressed his gratitude to the group for sympathy cards and other expressions of sympathy in the loss of his only sister, Mrs. Nettie Hendershot, of Walker, W. Va. Catherine Goodman, superintendent of Pontious EUB Sunday School, expressed thanks to Marie Brobst for her donation of flowers for church decoration. Marguerite Stevenson gave a report of greeting cards sent during the month.

The service was then turned over to the WSWS with Edwina Holderman in charge. Mary Richards read roll call. Edwina Holderman presented a reading, entitled "Persecution" and also an article, "Starvation in India".

Marguerite Stevenson closed the meeting with prayer, after which the group joined in the wiener roast and other foods provided by the hostess.

The next meeting of the combined classes will be held at the home of Catherine Goodman, Route 2, Amanda, 2 p. m. Sept. 21.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is being picketed by a union representing 63,000 postal workers seeking a 15 per cent pay raise.

"Postal employees for the first time in history are openly talking of a strike," said Sidney A. Goodman, president of the National Postal Union. But he did add that under the law and the union's constitution, his members would be prevented from striking.

Asked what would happen if the pay hike isn't granted, Goodman replied: "We will take that up when we get to it."

A House subcommittee has approved a 6 per cent pay raise for postal workers this year and another 5 per cent raise for next year. Present pay scales provide for a postal clerk maximum of $7,267 after 21 years.

Solidify Party Locally,
Postmaster Tells Dems

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A high-ranking Democrat cast an eye toward the 1968 elections Tuesday night and urged party members at the local level to eliminate "internal strife" and join in the same "kind of co-operation that existed between John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson."

"I can tell you that Lyndon Johnson, Hubert Humphrey, Robert Kennedy and our other national leaders will stand together in 1968," said Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien. "But what about our leadership on the local level?"

How Weather
Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio weather:

Scattered showers first arrived in Northwest Ohio a few hours after midnight. Elsewhere dry weather prevailed. Temperatures were warmer, registering in the 50s or the low 60s. Sample readings included Toledo 61, Cleveland 63, Cincinnati 62, Columbus 59 and Marietta 58.

Showers should first end in Northwest Ohio this afternoon and in Eastern Ohio early tonight. Rather cloudy and cool weather is then predicted for Thursday with chance of a few lingering morning showers in Southeast Ohio.

The Ohio temperature forecast: 70s and low 80s today, mostly the 50s tonight and the 70s Thursday.

FORECASTS

OHIO—Mostly cloudy tonight with occasional showers central and south, low 50s north and central, low 60s south. Variable cloudiness and cooler on Thursday.

CENTRAL OHIO — Clearing and little change in temperature tonight, low near 60s. Thursday mostly cloudy and cooler, high low 70s.

SOUTHEAST OHIO — Showers and thundershowers this afternoon and tonight. Low tonight in 60s. Thursday mostly cloudy and turning cooler with chance scattered showers, high mid 70s.

SOUTHWEST OHIO — To night and Thursday mostly cloudy and cooler. Low to — night 52-57.

NORTHWEST OHIO — Turning cooler during the afternoon, high today in the 70s. Cloudy, windy and cooler tonight, low in the middle and lower 50s. Variable cloudiness and cool Thursday.

OHIO FIVE-DAY FORECAST

Temperature and precipitation will be well below normal Thursday through Monday with highs in the 70s and lows in the 50s. Rainfall, if any, will total less than .1 inch.

Use The ClassifiedsDayton Is Ripe
For Rioting,
Study Reveals

WASHINGTON (AP)—A university study targets six U.S. cities as riot-prone because their white and Negro residents are poles apart in perceiving slum problems.

Dr. John P. Spiegel, director of Brandeis University's Lemberg Center for the Study of Violence, said the study pinpointed Cleveland, Dayton and Akron, all in Ohio, and Pittsburgh, San Francisco and Boston.

"We are convinced that any one of the six cities could have a riot," Spiegel told the Senate Judiciary Committee Tuesday. "The same elements are present in all of them."

Without saying which city, Spiegel told the Senate panel that in one, 65 per cent of the Negroes interviewed complained of a lack of job opportunities, while only 27 per cent of the whites queried agreed Negroes had such a problem.

In another city, said Spiegel, 77 per cent of the Negroes are irked by lack of decent housing. Only 26 per cent of the whites saw this as a major problem.

"Attitudes have become so polarized that blacks and whites are almost adversaries," said Spiegel.

As the Judiciary Committee continued its hearings into a House-passed bill that would make it a federal crime to cross a state line with intent to incite a riot, another Senate panel heard two Democratic senators urge federal help in guaranteeing insurance in riot-hit areas.

"When a section of a city is denied insurance, it is denied the future," Sen. Philip A. Hart of Michigan told the Senate Commerce Committee.

Hart and Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana urged Congress to work swiftly on a plan to make insurance immediately available to urban areas of high riot risk.

In other Tuesday developments related to this summer's riots:

—The Pentagon confirmed that planes of Air National Guard units in 17 states have been placed on alert to rush Guardsmen from summer training camps to riot areas if needed.

—The second in a series of advertisements prepared by the National Guard Association of the United States to counter criticism of the Guard's performance in riots appeared in some large newspapers. Association officials said the Madison Avenue firm of Durand Sapan, Inc., had been retained to prepare and place the ads for an estimated $50,000.

Trade Successes Overlooked

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Johnson administration is unlikely to convert two major international achievements into massive support at the polls next year.

CAN YOU TOP THIS? — Not quite, for Linda McGill, 21-year-old Australian swimmer seen in London, plans to swim the English Channel topless later this month.

But both will help shape the lives and leisure of many Americans for years to come.

Earlier this summer, U.S. officials reached agreement to cut tariffs on thousands of items over a five-year period in return for cuts by other non-Communist nations.

And last weekend the United States agreed with nine leading industrial nations on a framework for creating new money to help pay for new trade.

Both moves have bipartisan support but lack massive voter attention given such questions as the Vietnam war and trouble in the cities.

Yet government officials consider them so important to the country's future that they've spent four to five years trying to resolve problems surrounding each.

President Johnson called last weekend's agreement "the greatest step forward in world financial cooperation" in two decades and said it will advance the welfare of all Americans.

The reduction of tariffs and the means to finance more trade will mean more jobs for Americans, the administration contends.

The government estimates that every $1 billion in exports means 127,000 jobs for Americans. Government officials expect the successful round of tariff talks to increase exports although they hesitate to say by how much.

Poes of specific tariff cuts contend these could lead to increased imports which could affect some U.S. jobs.

With the machinery for monetary reform taking place, the non-Communist world is expected to have the money to pay for growing trade.

It took four years to draft the monetary reform outline which now must be approved by the International Monetary Fund and ratified by participating countries. Approval from 85 per cent of the 106-nation fund is required to put any plan into effect.

If finally approved, this contingency plan would be the first major revision in the way the world does business since the end of World War II.

Irishman Likes

Stow Away Role

NEW YORK (AP)—The handsome young Irishman had an easy explanation when asked why he had twice in 12 months stowed away on the liner Queen Elizabeth.

"I like it here," John Joseph Hamill told inquiring federal officials Tuesday. "I wanted to see America."

A year ago Hamill, 23, of Belfast, stowed away on the Queen and managed to get ashore for a week in New York before federal agents caught him. He was later deported.

This time he was three days out of Southampton, England, when he was picked up while sipping coffee on the liner's promenade deck. A U.S. commissioner held him in $5,000 bail.

Heavy Smog in LA

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Eye-blinding smog clung to the Los Angeles basin today in what the U.S. Weather Bureau described as the greatest concentration in a decade.

"It looks like it could get even worse," an official said.

Solidify Party Locally, Postmaster Tells Dems

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A high-ranking Democrat cast an eye toward the 1968 elections Tuesday night and urged party members at the local level to eliminate "internal strife" and join in the same "kind of co-operation that existed between John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson."

"I can tell you that Lyndon Johnson, Hubert Humphrey, Robert Kennedy and our other national leaders will stand together in 1968," said Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien. "But what about our leadership on the local level?"

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio weather:

Scattered showers first arrived in Northwest Ohio a few hours after midnight. Elsewhere dry weather prevailed. Temperatures were warmer, registering in the 50s or the low 60s. Sample readings included Toledo 61, Cleveland 63, Cincinnati 62, Columbus 59 and Marietta 58.

Showers should first end in Northwest Ohio this afternoon and in Eastern Ohio early tonight. Rather cloudy and cool weather is then predicted for Thursday with chance of a few lingering morning showers in Southeast Ohio.

The Ohio temperature forecast: 70s and low 80s today, mostly the 50s tonight and the 70s Thursday.

Dayton Is Ripe For Rioting, Study Reveals

WASHINGTON (AP)—A university study targets six U.S. cities as riot-prone because their white and Negro residents are poles apart in perceiving slum problems.

Dr. John P. Spiegel, director of Brandeis University's Lemberg Center for the Study of Violence, said the study pinpointed Cleveland, Dayton and Akron, all in Ohio, and Pittsburgh, San Francisco and Boston.

"We are convinced that any one of the six cities could have a riot," Spiegel told the Senate Judiciary Committee Tuesday. "The same elements are present in all of them."

Without saying which city, Spiegel told the Senate panel that in one, 65 per cent of the Negroes interviewed complained of a lack of job opportunities, while only 27 per cent of the whites queried agreed Negroes had such a problem.

In another city, said Spiegel, 77 per cent of the Negroes are irked by lack of decent housing. Only 26 per cent of the whites saw this as a major problem.

"Attitudes have become so polarized that blacks and whites are almost adversaries," said Spiegel.

As the Judiciary Committee continued its hearings into a House-passed bill that would make it a federal crime to cross a state line with intent to incite a riot, another Senate panel heard two Democratic senators urge federal help in guaranteeing insurance in riot-hit areas.

"When a section of a city is denied insurance, it is denied the future," Sen. Philip A. Hart of Michigan told the Senate Commerce Committee.

Hart and Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana urged Congress to work swiftly on a plan to make insurance immediately available to urban areas of high riot risk.

In other Tuesday developments related to this summer's riots:

—The Pentagon confirmed that planes of Air National Guard units in 17 states have been placed on alert to rush Guardsmen from summer training camps to riot areas if needed.

—The second in a series of advertisements prepared by the National Guard Association of the United States to counter criticism of the Guard's performance in riots appeared in some large newspapers. Association officials said the Madison Avenue firm of Durand Sapan, Inc., had been retained to prepare and place the ads for an estimated $50,000.

—Kerner Likely To Head Midwestern Governors OSAGE BEACH, Mo. (AP)—Gov. Otto Kerner, Illinois Democrat, is expected to be elected chairman of the Midwestern Governors Conference at its final session.

He would succeed Gov. James A. Rhodes, Ohio Republican.

Gov. Nils A. Boe, South Dakota Republican, is expected to be elected vice chairman succeeding Kerne

Even Clocks Segregated CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—Labor Minister Marais Viljoen told Parliament that factory owners may now use time clocks to record overtime worked by employees.

But, in keeping with the country's policy of apartheid (race segregation), separate clocks will have to be provided for whites and nonwhites, he said.

O'Brien said the national Democratic leaders "are dedicated. They can and will march shoulder to shoulder in party unity."

But, he warned, "we cannot merely sit back and rely on our record to win elections."

"For the Republican have a secret weapon. That weapon is nothing less than Democratic disunity and internal strife. In all candor, we simply cannot afford, and the country cannot afford, the luxury of internal strife," he said.

But, he warned, "we cannot merely sit back and rely on our record to win elections."

Trade Successes Overlooked

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Johnson administration is unlikely to convert two major international achievements into massive support at the polls next year.

But both will help shape the lives and leisure of many Americans for years to come. Earlier this summer, U.S. officials reached agreement to cut tariffs on thousands of items over a five-year period in return for cuts by other non-Communist nations.

And last weekend the United States agreed with nine leading industrial nations on a framework for creating new money to help pay for new trade.

Both moves have bipartisan support but lack massive voter attention given such questions as the Vietnam war and trouble in the cities.

Yet government officials consider them so important to the country's future that they've spent four to five years trying to resolve problems surrounding each.

President Johnson called last weekend's agreement "the greatest step forward in world financial cooperation" in two decades and said it will advance the welfare of all Americans.

The reduction of tariffs and the means to finance more trade will mean more jobs for Americans, the administration contends.

The government estimates that every $1 billion in exports means 127,000 jobs for Americans. Government officials expect the successful round of tariff talks to increase exports although they hesitate to say by how much.

Foes of specific tariff cuts contend these could lead to increased imports which could affect some U.S. jobs.

With the machinery for monetary reform taking place, the non-Communist world is expected to have the money to pay for growing trade.

It took four years to draft the monetary reform outline which now must be approved by the International Monetary Fund and ratified by participating countries. Approval from 85 per cent of the 106-nation fund is required to put any plan into effect.

If finally approved, this contingency plan would be the first major revision in the way the

Nang, "and it must come very soon for our society is disintegrating. We need schools and we need teachers. The young people are not good. They are rebelling. They are very wild."
"The first job of government must be to end the war," said a Saigon housewife with two sons in the army. "I want a new president, not the present leaders. I don't know which one yet."

"A civilian would be better to bring peace," said an auto mechanic in Nha Trang. "We have suffered for many years, the fighting must be stopped. All costs are going up. I am becoming poorer every day."

"The war and high prices—these concern me most," said a teacher in My Tho. "One goes hand in hand with the other. The war goes on, the cost of living goes up. War is worst. We must stop both. None of the candidates seem to know how. They avoid the issues."

A wealthy Chinese businessman in the Saigon suburb of Cholon says he'll vote for Thieu and Ky, "not because I like either of them, but because we have to preserve the status quo. Vietnam has had one political upheaval after another. The boat keeps rocking. None of the civilians can offer any more of the leveling influence."

This point of view is expressed frequently, particularly by the middle class in Saigon. An apartment-house owner comments: "Mr. Huong is a fine and noble man. However, I am voting for Gen. Thieu because another change won't help the economy or the war."

The military slate also will get many votes from people who have not heard of the other candidates, like the militiaman in My Tho who said: "The only candidate I know is Gen. Ky so I will vote for him."

Another militiaman at an outpost on Route 4, the main highway in the delta, pointed to the only election poster on his section of the highway—for Thieu and Ky—and said: "I will vote for them. Are there other candidates?"

A man sitting on a street corner in Saigon under a billboard covered with posters for civilian candidates said he would vote "for Gen. Ky. He's the only man running."

In Tan An, 30 miles south of Saigon, two women shoppers said they were voting for Ky. Asked which Ky—Ha Thue Ky is one of the presidential candidates—one woman replied: "I don't know his first name. He's the young man with a mustache."

"Me and my fellow officers will vote for the Thieu-Ky ticket because this will keep the country in strong hands," said a captain in the logistics division of the Vietnamese armed forces.

"My wife, however, wants to vote for Phan Khac Su because he is an old man with silver hair and she respects distinguished old age."

"Only the military leaders will fight the Viet Cong," said a sergeant in the coastal town of Hoi An. "The civilian candidates talk about peace but they don't say how we can achieve it. Thieu and Ky are determined to win against the enemy, but they need time to get results."

"Thieu and Ky have to win," said an air force officer, "simply because no one but a military president could operate under the present governmental structure. If a civilian won, the provincial, district and village chiefs would be fired and new ones appointed. Then the local military wouldn't work with them. Security would fall apart, the war might break wide open."

"I'll vote for Thieu and Ky" said an anti-Buddhist banker. "But the idea of a democracy is ridiculous in Vietnam. We have to have a dictatorship. There's no other way to survive this trouble."

A Saigon law student said he expressed the views of many classmates: "Ky is young and aggressive. All the other candidates are old men. This is a young country. It has to move fast. Who else can do it?"

Presidential candidate Huong is getting a backlash benefit from antimilitary voters.

A lawyer in Saigon said: "Ky is a cowboy, slapstick character. He and Thieu have had a chance to get us out of this war morass but have failed. They spend their time in nightclubs."

Arrow points to the original opening explored by seekers after the legendary treasure of Montezuma, emperor of the Aztecs.

Montezuma Gold Still Unfound

By STEVE LIBBY
Central Press Writer

Deep in south-central Utah, hard by the Arizona border and one of the wildest, most desolate corners of the United States, your map will show you the little town of Kanab—population 1,700.

There is not much going on in Kanab right now, but in the year 1914 you could walk down the streets and sense the excitement in the air. A weather-beaten old prospector named Freddie had been spreading the legend of Montezuma's treasure to anyone who would listen.

Ten million dollars in gold, silver and precious gems, Crystal said, all buried nearby. All people had to do was help Freddie find it and they would all share in the loot.

After 53 years, Montezuma's treasure is still all legend and no gold, but there are those who persist the legend is logical and they seek on.

It all began, actually, nearly 500 years ago, when Cortez' invasion of Mexico was resisted by Montezuma. An Aztec emperor, born about 1480 and only living to his early forties, Montezuma was a despotic ruler in a reign of incessant warfare.

The Indian king tried to persuade Cortez to leave Mexico by giving him rich gifts, but the Spanish invader refused the money and gems. He seized Montezuma as hostage and, through him, ruled Mexico until the Aztecs arose in 1520 in a memorable battle, driving Cortez out of the area.

In the struggle, Montezuma was killed. His followers headed north, gathering up the ruler's vast wealth, and buried the riches in the mountains near Kanab.

Crystal failed in his search. "I'll vote for Huong—he has age and wisdom and less to gain personally."

A prominent government official said: "Ky has made us look foolish. He's interested in his own advancement, no one else's. We're supposed to vote for Thieu and Ky, but I will vote for Huong. And I know lots of others who will, too, but no one will say so."

A young woman educated in an American university said indignantly of Ky: "He is always saying one thing one day and something else the next. You never know what to expect. He acts like a playboy—look how he dresses. I will vote for Huong but I don't think he'll have much of a chance to win."

Many interviewed said the elections would make no difference to the war effort. "Ky and Thieu will win, but what is the good?" said a middle-aged employee in the Ministry of Public Works. "When they get power, they forget the people."

Few people appear genuinely enthusiastic about the election. But some consider it a start in the right direction.

for the treasure, though for many long days and nights he trudged across the mountains and through the arroyos seeking Indian carvings.

In his pocket was a document which Crystal insisted was the reproduction of an old Aztec petroglyph. "If we can find the matching petroglyph," he told the people of Kanab, "we'll be rich. All of us."

Then one day, in Johnson Canyon, 20 miles northeast of Kanab, his eyes bulged and his heart pounded: on a large open cliff was the inscription he had been seeking. He searched and searched, but found nothing. Neither did anyone else. Then he gave up — temporarily.

Crystal went to Mexico and returned with what he said was a 400-year-old inscription found in a Mexican monastery. Again, in 1922, he was successful in inspiring the good people of Kanab to join him as he climbed to the top of Sheep Mountain. From there he saw a large white mountain in the distance.

All the features of the topography matched with the map Crystal had brought back from Mexico. He was ready to lay claim to $10 million in gold, silver and gems—the treasure of Montezuma. People rallied for the search.

A steep slope led to an opening high on the mountainside, just as the map said it would. The treasure hunters entered, found a large room blocked at the far end by mortared blue mud and rocks from the floor of the valley.

It was all in accord with the map. They dug on. In the next room, all they found was a set of ibex horns but, undaunted, they opened new rooms deep in the vitals of the mountain.

Two years later, nothing had been found of value. Freddie Crystal didn't live to see his dream bear fruit. He passed on, his beliefs firm in his mind and insistent on his lips. However, there are those who still believe.

Bill Jones is one of these. He lives near Kanab, and says he believes he knows where the treasure is cached. His electric mine detectors have pinpointed four separate chambers which have been untapped by previous exploration, so he has brought in blasting gear. It's slow and rough going in this rugged, mountainous country in southern Utah, but Bill Jones is confident and he hopes to make a strike soon.

So, the search goes on, 450 years after the Aztecs of Montezuma are said to have hidden the treasure, deep in the hard rocks of Utah's White Mountain.

Ashville News Report

Mrs. John Sabine — 983-7831

Mrs. Malcolm Rathbun underwent thyroid surgery Monday at Mt. Carmel Hospital. She is expected to be returned to her home at the end of this week.

The Pythian Sisters of Ashville Temple will have their first meeting of the fall season on Tuesday, Sept. 5, at 8 p.m. Hostesses for the evening will be Georgia Hoover, Beverly Hoover, Evelyn Bastian and Jean Riegel.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Allen Grillo, 241 Erie Street, Galion, Ohio, announce the birth of a daughter, Aug. 19. The baby has been named Susan Marie and weighed 7 pounds 12 ounces at birth. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Lindsey.

Rev. and Mrs. William Sherertz, Bill, David and Sylvia are vacationing this week in Silver Spring, Md. at the home of Rev. Sherertz's sister. They will also be visiting with his parents in Washington, D. C.

Rev. John Morgan of the United Brethren Church will conduct the services at the Methodist Church, Sunday, Sept. 3, during Rev. Sherertz's vacation.

The Bastian Funeral Home ambulance made the following runs this past week: Aug. 23, took Mrs. Clark Neff to Doctors Hospital; Aug. 24, took Patricia Ford to Children's Hospital and Aug. 28, took Ragenna Thomas of Columbus to Riverside Hospital.

Mrs. Russell Gregg returned to her home Sunday from Mercy Hospital where she had been a surgical patient.

The members of the 1941 Class of Ashville-Harrison High School held their annual reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Murray, 611 East Wheeling Street in Lancaster, Sunday, Aug. 27.

Those enjoying the all day affair were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Swayer of Groveport, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Heil (Esther Smith) Janice and Jeanette, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Swisher (Ruth Ann Sark) Guy and George, Mr. and Mrs. Warren White and daughter all of Columbus, Rev. and Mrs. Francis Huber, John, Becky and Sally of Stoutsville, Doris Cline, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cook (Ethel Reid) and Marla, Mr. and Mrs. John Sabine (Marilyn Hedges) all of Ashville and Mr. and Mrs. Murray, Kathy, Linda, Brenda, Charles and Scott of the home.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Deal Jr. and daughter Jody returned home Sunday from Denver, Colorado after attending the week-long National FTD Convention for all associated members and Junior Florists from all over the world. Over 2100 was in attendance.

Much informative information was gained by attending the education and research business workshop. Mrs. Deal, along with other FTD florists helped to judge the "Design of the Year" contest, with entries submitted by members, juniors, and employees attending the convention. Prize money totaling $2500.00 was given. The annual election of officers was also held.

Highlights of the convention was the many social activities planned for both adults and children.

Planned tours were made to Colorado Springs, Garden of the Gods, Air Force Academy, Elitch's Amusement Park and on Tuesday evening the group was entertained by the Colorado Carnation Growers to a chuck wagon dinner and rodeo.

The convention was ended with the President's Ball on Thursday evening. The flower centerpieces were of red anthers and white carnations. Hundreds of them were used throughout the banquet hall.

The young florists also held their own banquet, followed with entertainment at the Lakewood Country Club in Denver. On Tuesday evening they were guests at the Flying W Ranch for a chuck wagon dinner and entertainment.

Candy and Mary Ann Miller, Shirley and Karen Thompson spent the weekend at Cedar Point.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hinkle and family returned home Sunday after vacationing at Hershey and Lancaster, Pa. They attended the Dutch Days Festival in that area.

Sharonville Ford Crews Called Back

CINCINNATI (AP)—Workers at the Ford Motor Co. transmission plant in suburban Sharonville were back to their jobs today after a week-long layoff.

Some 4,000 workers were laid off last week while the company made modifications on the assembly line for 1968 transmissions. Some workers were recalled Tuesday.

Disgruntled Teachers Planning Mass Walkout

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The first classroom showdown on Florida's education spending problems developed today as Pinellas County, the state's fifth largest, opened the new school year with half of its 3,500 teachers preparing to resign before dark.

Members of the Pinellas Classroom Teachers Association, which claims to represent about 90 per cent of the county's teachers, signed resignations Tuesday night to become effective at 5 p.m. today.

Whitney B. Newcomb Jr., vice president of the association, said 1,806 resignations were submitted Tuesday and "we expect more today."

In Clearwater, the county seat, school Supt. Thomas A. Southard said he would "remain hopeful as long as we have one minute left."

"We will utilize every means that we know to replace these teachers if it is necessary," Southard said. But he added that a list of available substitutes "does not include nearly that many names."

The resignations were the latest in a series of actions by teachers in the wake of sanctions imposed two months ago by the Florida Education Association and the National Education Association.

The teacher associations seek higher pay, invoked sanctions for what they termed inadequate financial support of the state's schools. They have begun a national campaign, through advertising and word of mouth, to discourage tourists, new industry or new teachers from coming to Florida.

Last Wednesday more than 30,000 members of the FEA met in a football stadium at Orlando and most pledged to resign Sept. 5 the day most of the state's schools are to open.

Phil Constans, executive secretary of the state association, pledged its support to the Pinellas teachers.

"There's no question about it," Constans said, "we're not kidding about this thing."

The effective time for the resignations was set to "allow the school board time to reconsider its action in rejecting a proposed resolution calling for a special legislative session to consider educational spending," a county association spokesman said.

The school board has a regularly scheduled meeting today. The present minimum starting salary is $5,200 a year.

"Me and my fellow officers will vote for the Thieu-Ky ticket because this will keep the country in strong hands," said a captain in the logistics division of the Vietnamese armed forces.

"My wife, however, wants to vote for Phan Khac Suu because he is an old man with silver hair and she respects distinguished old age."

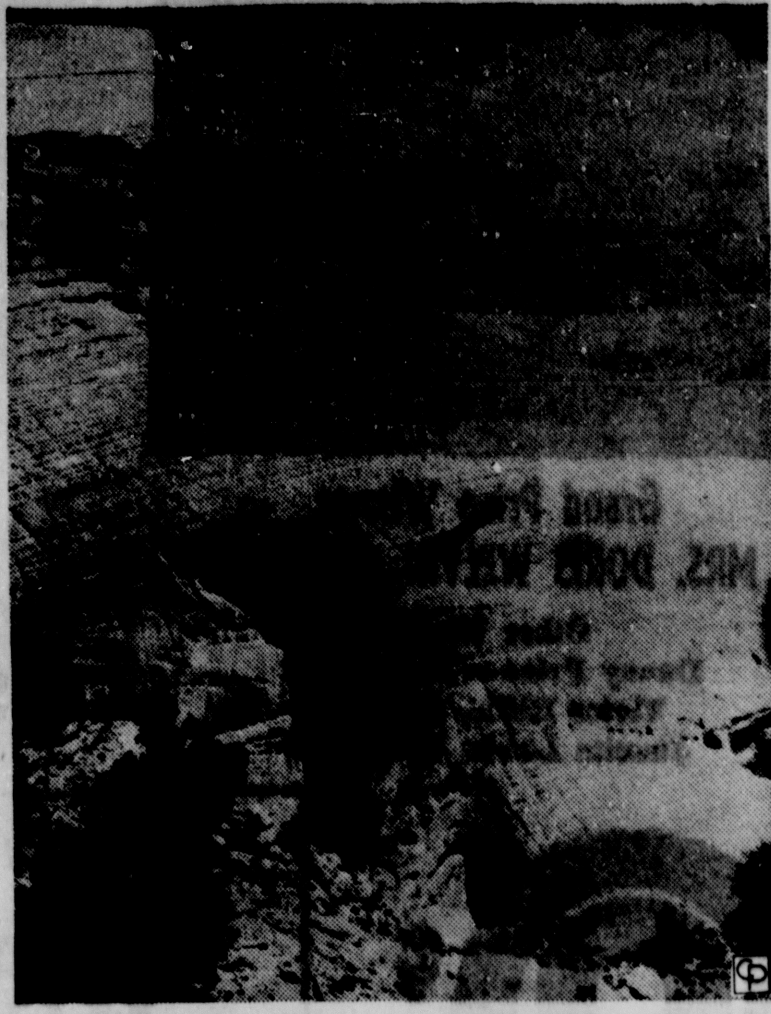

"Only the military leaders will fight the Viet Cong," said a sergeant in the coastal town of Hoi An. "The civilian candidates talk about peace but they don't say how we can achieve it. Thieu and Ky are determined to win against the enemy, but they need time to get results."

"Thieu and Ky have to win," said an air force officer, "simply because no one but a military president could operate under the present governmental structure. If a civilian won, the provincial, district and village chiefs would be fired and new ones appointed. Then the local military wouldn't work with them. Security would fall apart, the war might break wide open."

"I'll vote for Thieu and Ky" said an anti-Buddhist banker. "But the idea of a democracy is ridiculous in Vietnam. We have to have a dictatorship. There's no other way to survive this trouble."

A Saigon law student said he expressed the views of many classmates: "Ky is young and aggressive. All the other candidates are old men. This is a young country. It has to move fast. Who else can do it?"

Presidential candidate Huong is getting a backlash benefit from antimilitary voters. A lawyer in Saigon said: "Ky is a cowboy, slapstick character. He and Thieu have had a chance to get us out of this war morass but have failed. They spend their time in nightclubs."

Arrow points to the original opening explored by seekers after the legendary treasure of Montezuma, emperor of the Aztecs.

Montezuma Gold Still Unfound

By STEVE LIBBY
Central Press Writer

Deep in south-central Utah, hard by the Arizona border and one of the wildest, most desolate corners of the United States, your map will show you the little town of Kanab—population 1,700.

There is not much going on in Kanab right now, but in the year 1914 you could walk down the streets and sense the excitement in the air. A weather-beaten old prospector named Freddie Crystal was spreading the legend of Montezuma's treasure to anyone who would listen.

Ten million dollars in gold, silver and precious gems, Crystal said, all buried nearby. All people had to do was help Freddie find it and they would all share in the loot.

After 53 years, Montezuma's treasure is still all legend and no gold, but there are those who persist the legend is logical and they seek on.

It all began, actually, nearly 500 years ago, when Cortez's invasion of Mexico was resisted by Montezuma. An Aztec emperor, born about 1480 and only living to his early forties, Montezuma was a despotic ruler in a reign of incessant warfare.

The Indian king tried to persuade Cortez to leave Mexico by giving him rich gifts, but the Spanish invader refused the money and gems. He seized Montezuma as a hostage and, through him, ruled Mexico until the Aztecs arose in 1520 in a memorable battle, driving Cortez out of the area.

In the struggle, Montezuma was killed. His followers headed north, gathering up the ruler's vast wealth, and buried the riches in the mountains near Kanab.

Crystal failed in his search. "I'll vote for Huong—he has age and wisdom and less to gain personally."

A prominent government official said: "Ky has made us look foolish. He's interested in his own advancement, no one else's. We're supposed to vote for Thieu and Ky, but I will vote for Huong. And I know lots of others who will, too, but no one will say so."

A young woman educated in an American university said indignantly of Ky: "He is always saying one thing one day and something else the next. You never know what to expect. He acts like a playboy—look how he dresses. I will vote for Huong but I don't think he'll have much of a chance to win."

Many interviewed said the elections would make no difference to the war effort. "Ky and Thieu will win, but what is the good?" said a middle-aged employee in the Ministry of Public Works. "When they get power, they forget the people."

Few people appear genuinely enthusiastic about the election. But some consider it a start in the right direction.

for the treasure, though for many long days and nights he trudged across the mountains and through the arroyos seeking Indian carvings.

In his pocket was a document which Crystal insisted was the reproduction of an old Aztec petroglyph. "If we can find the matching petroglyph," he told the people of Kanab, "we'll be rich. All of us."

Then one day, in Johnson Canyon, 20 miles northeast of Kanab, his eyes bulged and his heart pounded: on a large open cliff was the inscription he had been seeking. He searched and searched, but found nothing. Neither did anyone else. Then he gave up—temporarily.

Crystal went to Mexico and returned with what he said was a 400-year-old inscription found in a Mexican monastery. Again, in 1922, he was successful in inspiring the good people of Kanab to join him as he climbed to the top of Sheep Mountain. From there he saw a large white mountain in the distance.

All the features of the topography matched with the map Crystal had brought back from Mexico. He was ready to lay claim to $10 million in gold, silver and gems—the treasure of Montezuma. People rallied for the search.

A steep slope led to an opening high on the mountainside, just as the map said it would. The treasure hunters entered, found a large room blocked at the far end by mortared blue mud and rocks from the floor of the valley.

It was all in accord with the map. They dug on. In the next room, all they found was a set of ibex horns but, undaunted, they opened new rooms deep in the vitals of the mountain.

Two years later, nothing had been found of value. Freddie Crystal didn't live to see his dream bear fruit. He passed on, his beliefs firm in his mind and insistent on his lips. However, there are those who still believe.

Bill Jones is one of these. He lives near Kanab, and says he believes he knows where the treasure is cached. His electric mine detectors have pinpointed four separate chambers which have been untapped by previous exploration, so he has brought in blasting gear. It's slow and rough going in this rugged, mountainous country in southern Utah, but Bill Jones is confident and he hopes to make a strike soon.

So, the search goes on. 450 years after the Aztecs of Montezuma are said to have hidden the treasure, deep in the hard rocks of Utah's White Mountains.

Sharonville Ford Crews Called Back

CINCINNATI (AP)—Workers at the Ford Motor Co. transmission plant in suburban Sharonville were back to their jobs today after a week-long layoff.

Some 4,000 workers were laid off last week while the company made modifications on the assembly line for 1968 transmissions. Some workers were recalled Tuesday.

Disgruntled Teachers Planning Mass Walkout

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The first classroom showdown on Florida's educational spending problems developed today as Pinellas County, the state's fifth largest, opened the new school year with half of its 3,500 teachers preparing to resign before dark.

Members of the Pinellas Classroom Teachers Association, which claims to represent about 90 per cent of the county's teachers, signed resignations Tuesday night to become effective at 5 p.m. today.

Whitney B. Newcomb Jr., vice president of the association, said 1,606 resignations were submitted Tuesday and "we expect more today."

In Clearwater, the county seat, school Supt. Thomas A. Southard said he would "remain hopeful as long as we have one minute left."

"We will utilize every means that we know to replace these teachers if it is necessary," Southard said. But he added that a list of available substitutes does not include "nearly that many names."

The resignations were the latest in a series of actions by teachers in the wake of sanctions imposed two months ago by the Florida Education Association and the National Education Association.

The teacher associations seeking higher pay, invoked sanctions for what they termed inadequate financial support of the state's schools. They have begun a national campaign, through advertising and word of mouth, to discourage tourists, new industry or new teachers from coming to Florida.

Last Wednesday more than 30,000 members of the FEA met in a football stadium at Orlando and most pledged to resign Sept. 5, the day most of the state's schools are to open.

Phil Constans, executive secretary of the state association, pledged its support to the Pinellas teachers.

"There's no question about it," Constans said, "we're not kidding about this thing."

The effective time for the resignations was set to allow the school board time to reconsider its action in rejecting a proposed resolution calling for a special legislative session to consider educational spending, a county association spokesman said.

The school board has a regularly scheduled meeting today. The present minimum starting salary is $5,200 a year.

Jesse M. Unruh Is California's Most Powerful Legislator Now

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Proclaimed in bold golden letters high over Abraham Lincoln's portrait and the elevated speaker's rostrum of the California Assembly is the Latin sentence: "Legislatorum Est Justas Leges Condere."

Translation: "It is the duty of legislators to make just laws."

But far more than that, believes Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, the 20th century legislature should be an enlightened, vigorous, inventive and the 44-year-old Unruh is California's most potent legislator, and its most powerful Democrat in the wake of last fall's Republican election victories which placed Ronald Reagan in the governor's chair.

Elsewhere, whenever he has the chance, Unruh is on of the nation's most energetic and outspoken advocates of a strong state government and particularly an independent legislature, free from outside pressures and with the prestige and power similar to those of the nation's restless early years.

For decades, too many legislative halls have been power vacuums, Unruh feels, echoing and rubber-stamping the demands of special interest groups.

Now Unruh sees the pendulum beginning to swing back, with California in the forefront. "It's very slow," said Unruh during an interview in his office, part of an expansive complex which houses the speaker's staff. His own office is decorated with modern paintings and mementoes of Unruh's travels and his association with the Kennedy family.

Seldom does Unruh preside over the Assembly, and he normally speaks—in eloquent rising and falling tones—only on the major issues, or a pet bill.

The prime resistances to strong state legislatures come from the business community, Unruh contends, "not so much out of fear of the legislature, but because businessmen know what their situation is now and they don't know what it would be."

Other opposition comes from the vast federal bureaucracy, Unruh further believes, citing a fruitless attempt to get a federal study grant for legislative leaders.

Despite all this, Unruh says states have done more in the past three years than in the previous half century to equip their governments with the tools needed to act decisively.

"It has begun...but there is a long way to go," Unruh said.

California has come far. All 120 legislators—80 in the Assembly and 40 in the Senate—have offices, both in the Capitol and in their home districts. Most have an administrative assistant.

Committees and their chairmen have staff consultants for research, and the legislative branch has its own well-paid fiscal and legal experts.

Last fall, Californians overwhelmingly approved a constitutional amendment, making the legislators' post virtually a fulltime job. The measure established annual general sessions, with no limit on length or subject matter. Legislators' salaries went from $6,000 to $16,000 a year, and they were covered by a code of ethics.

Counting his $25 a day expense allowance, the California legislator earned more than $21,000 for the record 217-day-long 1967 regular session.

It's too early for the amendment to produce dramatic changes, Unruh said. But one effect has been to ease the crush of bills, including critical financial measures, which used to pile up toward the end of the former 120-day regular sessions.

A major criticism of the national Committee for Economic Development in a recent report was that legislative seat were unattractive to qualified candidates and legislators too often were nonentities, unknown to many of their constituents.

Unruh concurs in the need for legislators to be in public view.

"Visibility is the greatest safeguard against corruption, the greatest guarantee of performance," he said. "The less visibility you have, the more schlocky (insept) legislators you have."

A "PEACE TORCH" lit at Hiroshima, the Japanese city devastated by the first atomic bomb, leaves Grace Cathedral in San Francisco after being blessed for its cross-country pilgrimage to Washington. It is expected to pass through nearly 200 communities. The "Peace Torch" Marathon was organized by 31-year-old Richard Elmore (right) as a protest against the Vietnam strife.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Maybe Widows Are Not So 'Merry'

DEAR ABBY: Why will a man pick a divorcee over a widow? It's a fact. I am a widow and I've lost out to divorcees time after time, and I have widow friends who have had the same experience. I am not bad looking, and I'm certainly not dumb. I have a nice personality (so I'm told), but for some reason I am not as appealing to men as a divorcee.

I should think a widow should have the edge because she is alone thru no fault of her own, but a divorcee is usually alone because she can't hold a man, or else she's fickle. If you can explain why men prefer divorcees over widows, Abby, you're a genius.

WIDOW DEAR WIDOW: Sweeping generalizations are unfair and unjust. Many divorcees are alone "thru no fault of their own." Perhaps it is not as easy for a widow to be "merry" as it is for a divorcee to be "gay." Could that be a clue?

DEAR ABBY: There is a well-to-do, socially prominent woman in this community who has the reputation of being a kleptomaniac. She is charming, intelligent, and acceptable and is invited everywhere.

I had heard that she goes into bedrooms of homes where she is a guest and picks up small objects such as perfume bottles and compacts. She even opens the purses of other guests and helps herself to money, handkerchiefs, etc.

I was warned to keep my purse with me when this woman was in the company, but at a dinner party recently I left my purse in the bedroom.

Later I discovered my coin purse, containing $20 was missing. Do I dare accuse? Should I tell my hostess? Who is responsible for the loss? If you were I, what would you do?

VICTIM DEAR VICTIM: I would neither tell any hostess, nor accuse the woman merely because I had heard she was a kleptomaniac. Forewarned should have been forearmed. Charge it off to experience and next time, keep your purse with you. (Meanwhile, don't peddle gossip, either.)

DEAR ABBY: Just as I was about to go out with my date, a girl friend (I'll call her Nellie) dropped by to see me. Nellie didn't make any effort to leave, altho she knew we were going out, so my date asked her if she would like to go along since we were going to a house party and he was "sure" the hostess wouldn't mind one extra.

Nellie jumped at the chance. She stayed all evening, and after the party, my date took me home FIRST because Nellie lived closer to his house. (This was true but I still didn't like it.)

My question: Don't you think Nellie should have refused to go along with us, since my boyfriend just asked her to be nice? Whose fault was all this?

BURNED UP DEAR BURNED: One should never extend an invitation "just to be nice" in the hope that it will be refused. (Some people never refuse anything.) Your date made a triple error. Inviting Nellie along in the first place. Bringing an extra to a party without first consulting his hostess. Taking you home first.

Moon Rocket Engine Passes First Test

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — The engine which will lift two U.S. astronauts off the moon and take them back to a mothership for the return to earth has passed its rehearsal firing for its first mission in space.

The ascent engine of the lunar module was fired Tuesday in a static test stand 13 miles east of Las Cruces, and National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said preliminary data indicated the test was a success.

It is expected to pass through nearly 200 communities. The "Peace Torch" Marathon was organized by 31-year-old Richard Elmore (right) as a protest against the Vietnam strife.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren Maybe Widows Are Not So 'Merry'

DEAR ABBY: Why will a man pick a divorcee over a widow? It's a fact. I am a widow and I've lost out to divorcees time after time, and I have widow friends who have had the same experience. I am not bad looking, and I'm certainly not dumb. I have a nice personality (so I'm told), but for some reason I am not as appealing to men as a divorcee.

I should think a widow should have the edge because she is alone thru no fault of her own, but a divorcee is usually alone because she can't hold a man, or else she's fickle. If you can explain why men prefer divorcees over widows, Abby, you're a genius.

WIDOW
DEAR WIDOW: Sweeping generalizations are unfair and unjust. Many divorcees are alone "thru no fault of their own." Perhaps it is not as easy for a widow to be "merry" as it is for a divorcee to be "gay." Could that be a clue?

DEAR ABBY: There is a well-to-do, socially prominent woman in this community who has the reputation of being a kleptomaniac. She is charming, intelligent, and acceptable and is invited everywhere.

I had heard that she goes into bedrooms of homes where she is a guest and picks up small objects such as perfume bottles and compacts. She even opens the purses of other guests and helps herself to money, handkerchiefs, etc.

I was warned to keep my purse with me when this woman was in the company, but at a dinner party recently I left my purse in the bedroom.

Later I discovered my coin purse, containing $20 was missing. Do I dare accuse? Should I tell my hostess? Who is responsible for the loss? If you were I, what would you do?

VICTIM
DEAR VICTIM: I would neither tell any hostess, nor accuse the woman merely because I had heard she was a kleptomaniac. Forewarned should have been forearmed. Charge it off to experience and next time, keep your purse with you. (Meanwhile, don't peddle gossip, either.)

DEAR ABBY: Just as I was about to go out with my date, a girl friend (I'll call her Nellie) dropped by to see me. Nellie didn't make any effort to leave, altho she knew we were going out, so my date asked her if she would like to go along since we were going to a house party and he was "sure" the hostess wouldn't mind one extra.

Nellie jumped at the chance. She stayed all evening, and after the party, my date took me home FIRST because Nellie lived closer to his house. (This was true but I still didn't like it.)

My question: Don't you think Nellie should have refused to go along with us, since my boyfriend just asked her to be nice? Whose fault was all this?

BURNED UP
DEAR BURNED: One should never extend an invitation "just to be nice" in the hope that it will be refused. (Some people never refuse anything.) Your date made a triple error. Inviting Nellie along in the first place. Bringing an extra to a party without first consulting his hostess. Taking you home first.

Moon Rocket Engine Passes First Test

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — The engine which will lift two U.S. astronauts off the moon and take them back to a mother ship for the return to earth has passed its rehearsal firing for its first mission in space.

The ascent engine of the lunar module was fired Tuesday in a static test stand 13 miles east of Las Cruces, and National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said preliminary data indicated the test was a success.

DEAN & BARRY HOUSE PAINT with poly-lin*

* Poly-lin is the Dean & Barry secret name for 100% pure polymeric linseed oil.

New Dean & Barry house paint with Poly-Lin looks smoother, looks glossier, looks better longer! And this means the most beautiful paint job you've ever seen, the most durable paint job your dollars can buy.

Here's why: Poly-Lin is the 100% pure polymerized linseed oil that gives Dean & Barry house paint extra smoothness, extra gloss, extra strength and toughness all the way through. No thinned-out places to prematurely weather and wear. No unsightly brush marks to spoil appearance. Dust and dirt wash off easily from the smooth, higher gloss finish. Paint jobs look better, last much longer to save important dollars for you.

No extra cost!—meaning you benefit, too, because you pay nothing extra for the superior beauty and durability the new Poly-Lin blend gives. So why pay more—why take less? See us today, or have your painter-decorator come in.

Average Detroit Rioter Is Young, Male Negro

By BILL SIMMONS

DETROIT (AP) — The "average rioter" in Detroit is pictured as a Negro male 20 to 28 years old, a resident of the city, who was arrested on a charge of looting.

That's the composite picture that emerges from police statistics on the 7,207 adults arrested in the week of rioting last month in the nation's fifth largest city.

All but 150, held on additional charges filed against them before the riot, have completed their trials or are free on bond.

Reports from the records bureau of the Detroit Police Department shows about half of those arrested—3,595—had records of previous offenses, though some were as minor as traffic violations.

The records also show that more than 90 per cent of those arrested are from Detroit.

As in the riot last month in Newark, N.J., nearly 50 per cent of those arrested were over 25 years old.

Of the total number of rioters detained by police, 3,363 were charged with felonies. In Detroit, as in Newark, about 75 per cent of the felony indictments involved stealing or receiving stolen property.

There were 255 arrests on charges involving weapons or explosives in rioting at Detroit where 43 people died. In Newark, where 27 died, there were 92 such arrests.

Seven felony arrests were for murder. One, against Patrolman Robert Paille in the death of a Negro youth, was dismissed for lack of evidence.

In 95 other cases, the charge is assault with intent to commit murder. Police list 26 of those arrests as sniper, among them five women.

There also were 52 persons charged with possession of explosives—gasoline firebombs.

Free Press Important In Vietnamese Election

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's presidential campaign is making the local press livelier than ever before. The newspapers are enjoying their freedom, but frequently adding more heat than light to the election.

When political censorship was lifted last month few editors were ready to accept the decree of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky at face value. As the candidates themselves grew bolder, however, the press followed suit.

Now the newspapers have surpassed the politicians and the reader is getting a heady political diet. The censored white space or delicate circumlocutions of the past has been replaced by uninhibited reporting.

Within the past few weeks Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, a presidential aspirant, has been called a traitor in print. Lesser though similarly emphatic labels have been applied to all his civilian rivals for the presidency.

Such free-wheeling treatment is not universal in Saigon's 38 daily newspapers published in Vietnamese, Chinese, French or English. But it is widespread enough to have made candidates of all stripes wince. Since the newspapers represent practically all brands of opinion save Communism or outright neutralism, they have lashed out at everyone.

Thieu and his vice-presidential running mate, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, were stung daily.

A wide range of newspapers—mostly two- and four-sheet dailies with more enthusiasm than money—have printed charges that Ky and Thieu are using their governmental positions to put pressure on provincial officials.

The honesty of the election machinery has become the overriding issue so far as the newspapers are concerned.

"Provincial officials are breaking their backs to support Thieu and Ky," one daily charged. "Obviously they are doing this to strengthen their own positions with their bosses."

Although the papers have borrowed the words "hawk" and "dove" from the American press, none has come forward with anything like a conciliatory policy toward the Communists.

They might generally be classified as outright hawks or just plain hawks, although practically all of them are conscious of the peace issue and discuss how it might be brought about.

On such issues as land reform, taxes, corruption or the American presence in Vietnam, the papers like the candidates have been noisier than they have been specific.

On the other hand they have used their new, and possibly temporary, freedom to bring a lot of issues into the public domain. The U.S. presence is no longer sacrosanct.

There are areas where the press is still reluctant to venture too far. When the military junta recently disclosed that a shakeup was being planned in which some corrupt officers would get the ax, the local press named no names although foreign correspondents freely did so.

Such reluctance to tangle openly with the military is privately admitted by editors who fear that the present freedom cannot continue. Even if political censorship remains lifted the government has such weapons as control of the newsprint supply and tax laws at its disposal.

For the moment, however, the military has evidently kept the pledge to let the press talk freely about the elections.

Police Work Praised By Alabama's Wallace

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "If the police of this country could run it for about two years then it would be safe to walk in the streets and walk in the parks," former Alabama Gov. George Wallace said Tuesday.

Wallace spoke to the national convention of the Fraternal Order of Police. He received two standing ovations from the 1,000 delegates.

Average Detroit Rioter Is Young, Male Negro

By BILL SIMMONS
DETROIT (AP) — The "average rioter" in Detroit is pictured as a Negro male 20 to 28 years old, a resident of the city, who was arrested on a charge of looting.

That's the composite picture that emerges from police statistics on the 7,207 adults arrested in the week of rioting last month in the nation's fifth largest city.

All but 150, held on additional charges filed against them before the riot, have completed their trials or are free on bond.

Reports from the records bureau of the Detroit Police Department shows about half of those arrested—3,595—had records of previous offenses, though some were as minor as traffic violations.

The records also show that more than 90 per cent of those arrested are from Detroit.

As in the riot last month in Newark, N.J., nearly 50 per cent of those arrested were over 25 years old.

Of the total number of rioters detained by police, 3,363 were charged with felonies. In Detroit, as in Newark, about 75 per cent of the felony indictments involved stealing or receiving stolen property.

There were 255 arrests on charges involving weapons or explosives in rioting at Detroit where 43 people died. In Newark, where 27 died, there were 92 such arrests.

Seven felony arrests were for murder. One, against Patrolman Robert Paille in the death of a Negro youth, was dismissed for lack of evidence.

In 95 other cases, the charge is assault with intent to commit murder. Police list 26 of those arrests as sniper, among them five women.

There also were 52 persons charged with possession of explosives—gasoline firebombs.

Free Press Important In Vietnamese Election

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's presidential campaign is making the local press livelier than ever before. The newspapers are enjoying their freedom, but frequently adding more heat than light to the election.

When political censorship was lifted last month few editors were ready to accept the decree of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky at face value. As the candidates themselves grew bolder, however, the press followed suit.

Now the newspapers have surpassed the politicians and the reader is getting a heady political diet. The censored white space or delicate circumlocutions of the past has been replaced by uninhibited reporting.

Within the past few weeks Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, a presidential aspirant, has been called a traitor in print. Lesser though similarly emphatic labels have been applied to all his civilian rivals for the presidency.

Such free-wheeling treatment is not universal in Saigon's 38 daily newspapers published in Vietnamese, Chinese, French or English. But it is widespread enough to have made candidates of all stripes wince. Since the newspapers represent practically all brands of opinion save Communism or outright neutralism, they have lashed out at everyone.

Thieu and his vice-presidential running mate, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, were stung daily.

A wide range of newspapers—mostly two- and four-sheet dailies with more enthusiasm than money — have printed charges that Ky and Thieu are using their governmental positions to put pressure on provincial officials.

The honesty of the election machinery has become the overriding issue so far as the newspapers are concerned.

"Provincial officials are breaking their backs to support Thieu and Ky," one daily charged. "Obviously they are doing this to strengthen their own positions with their bosses."

Although the papers have borrowed the words "hawk" and "dove" from the American press, none has come forward with anything like a conciliatory policy toward the Communists.

They might generally be classified as outright hawks or just plain hawks, although practically all of them are conscious of the peace issue and discuss how it might be brought about.

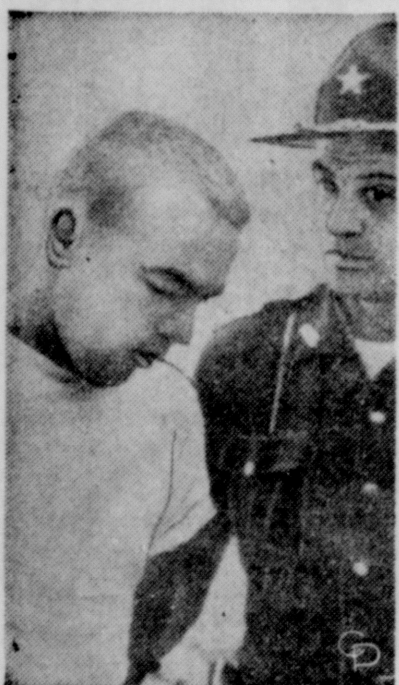

On such issues as land reform, taxes, corruption or the American presence in Vietnam, the papers like the candidates have been noisier than they have been specific.

On the other hand they have used their new, and possibly temporary, freedom to bring a lot of issues into the public domain. The U.S. presence is no longer sacrosanct.

There are areas where the press is still reluctant to venture too far. When the military junta recently disclosed that a shakeup was being planned in which some corrupt officers would get the ax, the local press named no names although foreign correspondents freely did so.

Such reluctance to tangle openly with the military is privately admitted by editors who fear that the present freedom cannot continue. Even if political censorship remains lifted the government has such weapons as control of the newsprint supply and tax laws at its disposal.

For the moment, however, the military has evidently kept the pledge to let the press talk freely about the elections.

Police Work Praised By Alabama's Wallace

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "If the police of this country could run it for about two years then it would be safe to walk in the streets and walk in the parks," former Alabama Gov. George Wallace said Tuesday.

Wallace spoke to the national convention of the Fraternal Order of Police. He received two standing ovations from the 1,000 delegates.

Negro Militant Freed by Jury

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Black Power disciple George Washington Ware was freed today — a week after his arrest on a state sedition charge.

The Davidson County Grand Jury declined to indict Ware, 27, a field worker for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

He was jailed Aug. 22 on a warrant sworn by two Nashville attorneys. The warrant accused him of committing sedition by saying that "black people should achieve power by any means necessary."

Ware could not be reached for comment. He has been free under $5,000 bond since last Friday.

Activity at the Pickaway County Children's Home this summer has been in high gear. Just ask the boys and girls who live there.

Where did they go? What did they do? Through the aid of interested organizations, Federal funds and the desire of the staff to provide an enriched summer program, the children at the Home have experienced a wonderful two and a half months.

Through Federal fund support and the Logan Elm School district, the children were able to benefit from an eight weeks nature study and recreation program. The same Title I funds also provided an excellent art course.

Two high school girls were employed as teacher's aids with the local Head Start program. The experience of working with children was excellent as was the opportunity to earn their own money and start a bank savings account.

FOUR boys were members of little league teams and the entire group was enrolled in the Red Cross swimming program. Many of the children progressed very well and earned different levels of achievement, according to Ralph Starkey, superintendent.

One of the most successful and enjoyed of all activities was the 4-H program that both the boys and girls took part in. Eight boys had livestock projects. The girls had a self-contained club under the direction of Mrs. Paula Strawser. The girls' projects were in home-making and involved complete redecoration of the girls' lounge antiquing furniture and having a display area at the fair.

The boys got a good taste of gardening this summer as they spent many hours in each of three different gardening area. The vegetable garden in the rear of the home contains about three acres of land where corn, beans, tomatoes, peppers, cabbage and melons are being cared for. The produce is used on the table or frozen for future use. As a fall money-making project the children are raising one and one-half acres of colored indian corn and seven acres of decorator gourds, squash and pumpkins. Plans are for a prominently placed booth at the Pumpkin Show from which to sell their products.

Many of the boys attended camp this summer. These camps were sponsored by the Salvation Army or local church groups.

For just plain fun, the children enjoyed a full summer of swimming at the Circleville pool and at several state parks in central Ohio.

A trip to the zoo and free amusement rides was sponsored by the Columbus Auto Club. An all-day trip to Coney Island that was part of the nature study and recreation program was indeed a treat for all.

The World Today

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sizeable elements in the Democratic party opposed to the Vietnam war are divided and uncertain about how to give political expression to their view.

Whether they can unite on a course of action is one interesting angle to watch in the developing 1968 political picture.

It is antiwar sentiment which energizes the "draft Kennedy" effort.

This is of course not the sole motivation. It embraces admirers of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., as a man and those attracted by what he has said about domestic matters.

But without the antiwar feeling the draft Kennedy movement would have wrecked long ago on the rock of Kennedy's repeated assertions that he supports President Johnson for re-election.

As it is, Citizens for Kennedy, with headquarters in New York, claims some 60 chapters scattered across the country. Dr. Martin Shepard, the New York co-chairman, says it is continuing to grow.

Opposition to the war also has fueled the organization of the National Conference for New Politics which convenes Friday in Chicago. It embraces antiwar and civil rights groups. There is talk this gathering may lead to the folding of a total ticket of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., for president, and Dr. Benjamin Spock for vice president. Both are strongly critical of Johnson's Vietnam policies.

However, Spock, a pediatrician nationally known for his writings on baby care, depreciated the likelihood of a national ticket in a letter to a Washington acquaintance.

"If it should decide on a national ticket, which I think not very likely, it would probably be a standby ticket, pending the selections of the Republican and Democratic nominees," he wrote.

"If either old party chose a half-peaceful candidate, I would think any New Politics national ticket would certainly be withdrawn."

Spock's letter was to Joseph L. Rauch, a Washington lawyer who is seeking to unite "peace Democrats" behind a movement for a peace plank in the 1968 Democratic platform.

Rauch's plan contemplates an effort from the grass roots level to elect peace delegates to the convention. Selection of delegates will begin early next year.

In late July, he sent a 15-page memorandum outlining his ideas to some 350 Democrats. This argued that a third party (New Politics) or "dump Johnson" (draft Kennedy) effort were the weakest political moves the peace movement could make.

On the other hand, he contended, an effort on behalf of a peace plank would be a strong move. He suggested that if beaten in the platform committee, a minority report could be brought in and debated in the convention with the full exposure of the television networks.

A built-in factor of strength for Rauch's plan is that most of the Senate and House doves presumably will be delegates to the convention. They are men of influence in their state parties. It is unlikely, for instance, that Arkansas Democrats would refuse to make Sen. J. W. Fulbright a delegate if he wants to be one.

Rauch said in an interview he has received expressions of support from four state Democratic chairmen, but only Robert L. Coate of northern California was willing to be quoted by name.

Rauch said he received requests for his memo and expressions of support from about 50 others who are active in the party. Many came by telephone rather than letter, he said, and added: "I think I have detected a real fear to be quoted in opposition to the war."

Reaction Is Favorable To Seven Arts Control

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The new look of Warner Brothers—Seven Arts was previewed this week.

Audience reaction: favorable. The Hollywood press corps has long been accustomed to trooping out to Burbank for functions presided over by Jack L. Warner, sometimes called "The Last Tycoon."

The Warner speeches were one of the hazards of covering the film scene, since he enjoyed rambling far afield in search of wisecracks, most of them non sequiturs.

Most of his fellow pioneers died in office or were pushed out of the business; Warner chose recently to relinquish his 44-year hold on the studio. The aggressive new firm of Seven Arts bought his share of Warner Brothers and assumed charge of the company last June 14.

It was an entirely different scene when the new studio management was introduced on Stage 1 at the Burbank lot this week. The man in charge is Kenneth Hyman, a lean, handsome 38, New York-born, but with a trace of British tones from his service in England as a film producer.

Hyman's is not exactly a Horatio Alger story, since his father happens to be Eliot Hyman, president of Seven Arts. But the younger Hyman also has a good film-making record, having been connected with at least two smash hits, "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?" and "The Dirty Dozen."

His brief remarks were notable for their modesty: "I'm not a public speaker... I'll try to be precise and accurate... I don't want to bore you..." Unlike his predecessor as studio boss, Hyman didn't attempt a single joke.

While he said nothing revolutionary, his comments offered a good picture of the New Economics of the movie business. Among them:

"We aim to extend total dignity and respect to the picture maker. We want to make Warner Brothers-Seven Arts an attractive place for film creators to come with their projects. We'll do our best to prove to them that we will treat a picture as an entity in itself, not as part of a season's product..."

"The studio will function largely as a service organization, offering the best facilities possible for the making of films. Also, we will emphasize that every film must be sold well and advertised well. That's part of the whole picture..."

"We must be in the television business, in order to take care of the studio overhead. But our first concern is the cinema image (Jack Warner calling it that) and we'll concentrate on that in the beginning, and then get the TV operation going. We must take first things first..."

"We're very interested in giving young people a chance to develop their talent in films, especially in writing. It doesn't take genius to buy a hit play or a best-selling novel. Those pictures are necessary, but we also need to develop original stories. We have a big writer' building, and it isn't as busy as it should be."

On the other hand, he contended, an effort on behalf of a peace plank would be a strong move. He suggested that if beaten in the platform committee, a minority report could be brought in and debated in the convention with the full exposure of the television networks.

A built-in factor of strength for Rauch's plan is that most of the Senate and House doves presumably will be delegates to the convention. They are men of influence in their state parties. It is unlikely, for instance, that Arkansas Democrats would refuse to make Sen. J. W. Fulbright a delegate if he wants to be one.

Rauch said in an interview he has received expressions of support from four state Democratic chairmen, but only Robert L. Coate of northern California was willing to be quoted by name.

Rauch said he received requests for his memo and expressions of support from about 50 others who are active in the party. Many came by telephone rather than letter, he said, and added: "I think I have detected a real fear to be quoted in opposition to the war."

Reaction Is Favorable To Seven Arts Control

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The new look of Warner Brothers—Seven Arts was previewed this week. Audience reaction: favorable.

The Hollywood press corps has long been accustomed to trooping out to Burbank for functions presided over by Jack L. Warner, sometimes called "The Last Tycoon."

The Warner speeches were one of the hazards of covering the film scene, since he enjoyed rambling far afield in search of wisecracks, most of them non sequiturs.

Most of his fellow pioneers died in office or were pushed out of the business: Warner chose recently to relinquish his 44-year hold on the studio. The aggressive new firm of Seven Arts bought his share of Warner Brothers and assumed charge of the company last June 14.

It was an entirely different scene when the new studio management was introduced on Stage 1 at the Burbank lot this week. The man in charge is Kenneth Hyman, a lean, handsome 38, New York-born, but with a trace of British tones from his service in England as a film producer.

Hyman's is not exactly a Horatio Alger story, since his father happens to be Eliot Hyman, president of Seven Arts. But the younger Hyman also has a good film-making record, having been connected with at least two smash hits, "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?" and "The Dirty Dozen."

His brief remarks were notable for their modesty: "I'm not a public speaker... I'll try to be precise and accurate... I don't want to bore you..." Unlike his predecessor as studio boss, Hyman didn't attempt a single joke.

While he said nothing revolutionary, his comments offered a good picture of the New Economics of the movie business. Among them:

"We aim to extend total dignity and respect to the picture maker. We want to make Warner Brothers—Seven Arts an attractive place for film creators to come with their projects. We'll do our best to prove to them that we will treat a picture as an entity in itself, not as part of a season's product..."

"The studio will function largely as a service organization, offering the best facilities possible for the making of films. Also, we will emphasize that every film must be sold well and advertised well. That's part of the whole picture..."

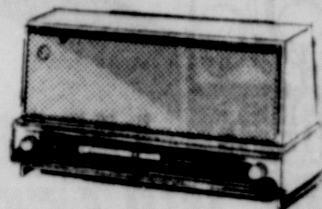

"We must be in the television business, in order to take care of the studio overhead. But our

Juveniles Sentenced For Burglary

Three area youths were sentenced to the permanent custody of the Ohio Youth Commission for burglarizing a Hargus Lake cabin.

Juvenile Judge Guy Cline placed the delinquents on three years probation and attached 100 hours of community work to their sentence.

The youths, all of Route 4, Circleville forced entry into the fishing cabin of Walter Richards and stole food, shotgun shells and knives. There has been a partial recovery of the stolen items.

Other court action placed a 15-year-old Ashville girl on three years probation and brought a sentence to the permanent care of the Ohio Youth Commission. She was found guilty of forging and counterfeiting three checks for another person.

THREE adults were tried and found guilty of contributing to the delinquency of minor children. Carol Hawley and William McWhorter, both of Orient, have been sentenced to one year in the Pickaway County Jail and fined $1000. The three children of Carol Hawley have been placed under the care and custody of the Pickaway County Child Welfare Board.

Maxine Teets, Williamsport, was sentenced to one year in Marysville Reformatory, fined $1,000 and placed on five years probation for the same offense.

Also appearing on this week's docket are two juvenile traffic offenders. Michael A. Rogers, 17, Route 1, Ashville, was fined $25 and costs for failing to heed a stop sign; $15 of the fine was suspended. Roger may use his license for work during suspension.

Kerry C. Bush, 17, Route 2, Williamsport, operating a motor vehicle with no muffler, was fined $10 and costs with the fine suspended. Both boys will attend Traffic Safety School.

Dean Martin's Father Is Dead

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Guy Crocetti, 75-year-old father of singer Dean Martin, died Monday night at a Los Angeles nursing home.

Martin flew to Los Angeles early Tuesday from Las Vegas, Nev., where he was appearing at the Sands Hotel. He was replaced there by Frank Sinatra. Crocetti, a barber, emigrated to the United States from Pescara, Italy, at the age of 17. He settled in Steubenville, Ohio, where Martin was born.

Falls at Home Cause Injury

Two women injured in falls at home were among persons requiring emergency care Tuesday in Berger Hospital. All ER patients were released following treatment.

Daisy Long, 36, of 224 Third Ave., fell on stair steps while cleaning at home. She suffered contusions to her left shoulder.

Geneva Binns, 33, of 226 Third Ave., slipped on the floor at home injuring her left elbow.

Dan Cook, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Cook, Route 2, was riding his bicycle when it slipped on gravel and threw him off causing contusions of his back.

Terry Hull, 18, of 540 Green-

Man Slightly Hurt in Wreck

A Groveport man was slightly injured when he lost control of his auto while rounding a curve 12:15 a. m. Wednesday on Route 674 1 1/2 miles from Route 22.

According to State Highway Patrol officers Charles W. Palm, 22, Route 1, Groveport, was southbound on Route 674 when he went off the right side of the road. His auto skidded in gravel, came across the road and rolled over once, landing on its top in the ditch.

Palm was advised by officers to see his family doctor. No citation was issued.

Father Saves Five Children

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — A 33-year-old trucker saved five of his children Tuesday night as flames destroyed the family's eight-room home.

Ronald Striker removed the children aged 1 through 7, from their upstairs bedrooms. Six older children fled from the house by themselves.

The last child to be rescued was 12-month-old Timothy, who was discovered huddled and crying in an upstairs bedroom.

Striker said he got four of the children out before he realized the baby was still upstairs.

He kicked in the glass of a first floor kitchen window and used the window sill to boost himself to the second floor, where he found Timothy.

Leaving Scene Draws Fine for Ashville Man

An Ashville man charged with leaving the scene of an accident appeared before Acting Judge Harry Margulis in Circleville Municipal Court Tuesday.

Walter Hardbarger, 27, Route 1, Ashville, left the scene of an accident in which he was involved Aug. 4. Judge Margulis fined him $75 and costs, but suspended $25 of the fine.

Richard Kaiser, 26, Commercial Point, was fined $10 and costs in court for driving left of center.

Phoebe Elizabeth Sams, 39, Kingston, failed to dim her high headlight beams at night to oncoming traffic and was fined $5 and costs.

A total of 39 other violators, all residents of areas outside Pickaway County, were fined a total of $1,046.

Suspect Is Held In Slaying of 3 Bank Employees

OVERTON, Nev. (AP) — The manager of a bank and his two women tellers were herded into a vault late Tuesday and shot to death. A 24-year-old man was later arrested and charged with murder and robbery.

The slayings were discovered by a farmer, Norman T. Shurtliff, who had gone to the bank to talk about a loan.

The bank manager, Larry Staley, 27, and the tellers—Vera Walkington, 30, and Betty Heitmann, 40—were each shot in the head. Normally, two other persons work at the Overton branch of the Bank of Las Vegas but both were off.

Terry Lynn Conger, a construction worker, was taken into custody at his home in the farming community of Moapa, about 15 miles northeast of Overton. He was booked into Carbon County Jail on charges of murder and robbery.

An audit to determine the amount taken will be made today.

A short time before the three were slain, sheriff's officers said, a young man tried to rob a bait shop two blocks away.

A clerk, Adella Maxey, said the man asked for shells for a gun and then, as she turned, demanded that she give him all the store's money.

She took about $30 from a cash register, Mrs. Maxey told police, but the man said: "If that's all you've got, forget it. It's not worth my life or your life."

Mrs. Maxey said he then said he had been kidding, and talked with her for 10 minutes before buying beer and leaving.

Mrs. Maxey telephoned Deputy Sheriff Cleo Whitney, and Whitney was in the bait store when word came of the bank killings.

Roadblocks were set up, and about an hour later Conger's car was spotted by a pilot, which led to his arrest.

Peace Plans Are Proposed To End Nigerian Civil War

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Talk of peace has broken out in Nigeria's eight-week-old civil war—but most of it is coming from secessionist Biafra, now threatened by jet attack.

Nigeria's new war Cabinet pondered a lengthy Biafran white paper today that contained the strongest bid to end the fighting since the war between the federal government and the breakaway state erupted July 6.

Although the proposal stops short of bringing Biafra back into the Nigerian federation, it included a joint services authority to establish cooperation in eight areas from transportation to currency.

There was no immediate response from the federal government after the proposal's disclosure in a broadcast from Benin, in the Midwest region.

The government is in a strengthened position since its recent purchase of jet fighters from the Soviet Union. Travelers from Biafra have reported a corresponding dip in morale there.

The government made public, however, the text of a speech by Anthony Enahoro, commissioner for labor and information, in which he listed its peace terms.

They require an end to secession, acknowledgment of federal authority in Biafra, acceptance of new states splitting Biafra into three parts, acceptance by Biafra of civilians in the federal and state military governments and agreement to hold constitutional talks with civilians from other states.

The issue of sovereignty was still the major bar to a halt in the fighting although Biafra appeared to give a little from its initial call for "irrevocable sovereignty."

Juveniles Sentenced For Burglary

Three area youths were sentenced to the permanent custody of the Ohio Youth Commission for burglarizing a Hargus Lake cabin.

Juvenile Judge Guy Cline placed the delinquents on three years probation and attached 100 hours of community work to their sentence.

The youths, all of Route 4, Circleville forced entry into the fishing cabin of Walter Richards and stole food, shotgun shells and knives. There has been a partial recovery of the stolen items.

Other court action placed a 15-year-old Ashville girl on three years probation and brought a sentence to the permanent care of the Ohio Youth Commission. She was found guilty of forging and counterfeiting three checks for another person.

THREE adults were tried and found guilty of contributing to the delinquency of minor children. Carol Hawley and William McWhorter, both of Orient, have been sentenced to one year in the Pickaway County Jail and fined $1000. The three children of Carol Hawley have been placed under the care and custody of the Pickaway County Child Welfare Board.

Maxine Teets, Williamsport, was sentenced to one year in Marysville Reformatory, fined $1,000 and placed on five years probation for the same offense.

Also appearing on this week's docket are two juvenile traffic offenders. Michael A. Rogers, 17, Route 1, Ashville, was fined $25 and costs for failing to heed a stop sign; $15 of the fine was suspended. Roger may use his license for work during suspension.

Kerry C. Bush, 17, Route 2, Williamsport, operating a motor vehicle with no muffler, was fined $10 and costs with the fine suspended. Both boys will attend Traffic Safety School.

Dean Martin's Father Is Dead

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Guy Crocetti, 75-year-old father of singer Dean Martin, died Monday night at a Los Angeles nursing home.

Martin flew to Los Angeles early Tuesday from Las Vegas, Nev., where he was appearing at the Sands Hotel. He was replaced there by Frank Sinatra. Crocetti, a barber, emigrated to the United States from Pescara, Italy, at the age of 17. He settled in Steubenville, Ohio, where Martin was born.

He had lived in Southern California since 1941.

Falls at Home Cause Injury

Two women injured in falls at home were among persons requiring emergency care Tuesday in Berger Hospital. All ER patients were released following treatment.

Daisy Long, 36, of 224 Third Ave., fell on stair steps while cleaning at home. She suffered contusions to her left shoulder.

Geneva Binns, 33, of 226 Third Ave., slipped on the floor at home injuring her left elbow.

Dan Cook, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Cook, Route 2, was riding his bicycle when it slipped on gravel and threw him off causing contusions of his back.

Terry Hull, 18, of 540 Greenacre Court, lacerated the second finger of his right hand putting up a garage door.

Man Slightly Hurt in Wreck

A Groveport man was slightly injured when he lost control of his auto while rounding a curve 12:15 a. m. Wednesday on Route 674 1½ miles from Route 22.

According to State Highway Patrol officers Charles W. Palm, 22, Route 1, Groveport, was southbound on Route 674 when he went off the right side of the road. His auto skidded in gravel, came across the road and rolled over once, landing on its top in the ditch.

Palm was advised by officers to see his family doctor. No citation was issued.

Father Saves Five Children

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — A 33-year-old trucker saved five of his children Tuesday night as flames destroyed the family's eight-room home.

Ronald Striker removed the children aged 1 through 7, from their upstairs bedrooms. Six older children fled from the house by themselves.

The last child to be rescued was 12-month-old Timothy, who was discovered huddled and crying in an upstairs bedroom.

Striker said he got four of the children out before he realized the baby was still upstairs.

He kicked in the glass of a first floor kitchen window and used the window sill to boost himself to the second floor, where he found Timothy.

Striker dropped the baby into the arms of a neighbor.

Peace Plans Are Proposed To End Nigerian Civil War

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Talk of peace has broken out in Nigeria's eight-week-old civil war—but most of it is coming from secessionist Biafra, now threatened by jet attack.

Nigeria's new war Cabinet pondered a lengthy Biafran white paper today that contained the strongest bid to end the fighting since the war between the federal government and the breakaway state erupted July 6.

Although the proposal stops short of bringing Biafra back into the Nigerian federation, it included a joint services authority to establish cooperation in eight areas from transportation to currency.

There was no immediate response from the federal government after the proposal's disclosure in a broadcast from Benin, in the Midwet region.

The government is in a strengthened position since its recent purchase of jet fighters from the Soviet Union. Travelers from Biafra have reported a corresponding dip in morale there.

The government made public, however, the text of a speech by Anthony Enaharo, commissioner for labor and information, in which he listed its peace terms.

They require an end to secession, acknowledgment of federal authority in Biafra, acceptance of new states splitting Biafra into three parts, acceptance by Biafra of civilians in the federal and state military governments and agreement to hold constitutional talks with civilians from other states.

The issue of sovereignty was still the major bar to a halt in the fighting although Biafra appeared to give a little from its initial call for "irrevocable sovereignty."

Government's Gobbledegook Irks His Honor

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A federal judge in Portland gave a tax indictment back to government lawyers Monday and told them to rewrite it in plain English.

The incident arose when a defense lawyer complained that the Internal Revenue Service was still hounding his client on a tax matter that was supposed to have been settled earlier.

U.S. Dist. Judge Gus Solomon looked at the indictment and said, "This is so full of complicated words and phrases, that I don't blame lawyers for disagreement over what it meant."

The judge told the government to "write it over in simple, concise words that mean something."

Government's Gobbledegook Irks His Honor

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A federal judge in Portland gave a tax indictment back to government lawyers Monday and told them to rewrite it in plain English.

The incident arose when a defense lawyer complained that the Internal Revenue Service was still bounding his client on a tax matter that was supposed to have been settled earlier.

U.S. Dist. Judge Gus Solomon looked at the indictment and said, "This is so full of complicated words and phrases, that I don't blame lawyers for disagreement over what it meant."

The judge told the government to "write it over in simple, concise words that mean something."

UN Attempt Now Favored By Officials

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bloc of former senatorial delegates to the United Nations is confident President Johnson will try to initiate U.N. debate on Vietnam early in September.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who led a show of support in the Senate Monday for such a move, said in an interview the next move is up to the President.

"The President is interested in bringing the matter before the Security Council and we were trying to demonstrate that he would have public backing if he undertakes to get action," he said. "The decision, of course, is up to the President. I am confident he would like to have the matter brought before the United Nations." He indicated no move would come before the South Vietnamese elections Sept. 3, however.

One by one, former members of American delegations to the U.N. got up to say the best route for breaking the stalemate on peace negotiations is through the international organization.

If such a move failed because of a Soviet veto, Mansfield said, it would expose the Soviets as "the artful dodgers they are" in calling for an end to the conflict but blocking an American proposal to reconvene the Geneva Conference which worked out Vietnam settlements years ago.

Almost all of the former U.N. delegates who spoke are critical of President Johnson's war policies. Besides Mansfield, they include Sens. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark.; George D. Aiken, R-Vt.; John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky.; Frank Carlson, R-Kan.; Frank Church, D-Idaho; Gordon L. Allott, R-Colo.; John O. Pastore, D-R.I.; Wayne Morse, D-Ore.; and John J. Sparkman, D-Ala.

They are joined in their appeal for U.N. action by Sens. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., and Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-Va., who have not served on U.N. delegations. Sparkman repeated his support of Johnson's war policies in declaring the time is here for action in the U.N.

However, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who has backed Johnson's basic Vietnam decisions but took no part in the debate, told reporters he thinks any effort to get U.N. action on the war would prove futile.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bloc of former senatorial delegates to the United Nations is confident President Johnson will try to initiate U.N. debate on Vietnam early in September.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who led a show of support in the Senate Monday for such a move, said in an interview the next move is up to the President.

"The President is interested in bringing the matter before the Security Council and we were trying to demonstrate that he would have public backing if he undertakes to get action," he said. "The decision, of course, is up to the President. I am confident he would like to have the matter brought before the United Nations." He indicated no move would come before the South Vietnamese elections Sept. 3, however.

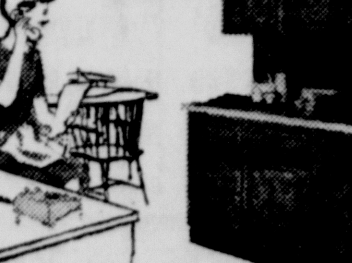

One by one, former members of American delegations to the U.N. got up to say the best route for breaking the stalemate on peace negotiations is through the international organization.

If such a move failed because of a Soviet veto, Mansfield said, it would expose the Soviets as "the artful dodgers they are" in calling for an end to the conflict but blocking an American proposal to reconvene the Geneva Conference which worked out Vietnam settlements years ago.

Almost all of the former U.N. delegates who spoke are critical of President Johnson's war policies. Besides Mansfield, they include Sens. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark.; George D. Aiken, R-Vt.; John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky.; Frank Carlson, R-Kan.; Frank Church, D-Idaho; Gordon L. Allott, R-Colo.; John O. Pastore, D-R.I.; Wayne Morse, D-Ore.; and John J. Sparkman, D-Ala.

They are joined in their appeal for U.N. action by Sens. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., and Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-Va., who have not served on U.N. delegations. Sparkman repeated his support of Johnson's war policies in declaring the time is here for action in the U.N.

However, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who has backed Johnson's basic Vietnam decisions but took no part in the debate, told reporters he thinks any effort to get U.N. action on the war would prove futile.

'Baby Brigade' Prevails

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Pro golf has its Arnie's Army, Jack's Pack and Boros' Bunch.

Amateur golf counters with the Baby Brigade.

The Army, the Pack and the Bunch are the stampeding thousands who follow Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Julius Boros down the gold-plated fairways. But the Baby Brigade is three-fifths of the field in the U.S. Amateur Championships which began a 72-hole stand on the 6,906-yard West Broadmoor layout today.

Mayfield Pro Boosts Lead In Ohio Open

CLEVELAND (AP) — The way Frank Boynton Jr. has been going in the Ohio Open Golf Tournament at the Mayfield Country Club, he may try to catch the flu before each tournament he enters.

The defending champion, playing on his home course, had to leave the course Sunday because of a touch of the flu, but shot a four under par 67 in the rain Monday to take a one-stroke lead in the tournament's opening round.

Before the second 18-hole round started Tuesday, the 31-year-old pro said he felt even worse than he did Monday. He went out and shot a six under par 33-32-65 to give him a 132 total and a six-stroke lead at the halfway mark.

"Maybe I'll play better each day if I keep feeling this way," Boynton said.

The field was cut Tuesday to the low 50 professional and ties and the low 15 amateurs and ties for the final 36 holes today.

Ed Griffiths of Youngstown, a member of the pro tour, fired a 70 Tuesday to go with his opening-round 68 to take over sole possession of second place with a 138.

Frank Wharton, head pro at Akron Fairlawn, is in third place with a two under par 140 after betting a 68 Tuesday.

The only others within shouting distance of the leader are Dick Schwartz, assistant pro at Shaker Heights, with a 143 and Dick Rhyhan Jr. of Toledo with 145.

The tournament's amateur contingent is led by Art Huddutt of Elyria with a 73-75-148.

Speed Mark Unlikely in Hambletonian

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—A field of a dozen finely tuned 3-year-old trotters goes after one of harness racing's biggest plums Wednesday — victory in the $122,650 Hambletonian.

The corn-tassel derby, in the pastoral setting of the Du Quoin State Fairgrounds, will draw 25,000 fans who view the event as pure lovers of horse flesh. There is no lure of parimutuel betting.

By race time at 3 p.m. EDT for the first mile heat, the weatherman forecast clearing skies. The mile oval, which produced a world record 1:56 4-5 by Ayres in 1964, should be fast. However, a record heat does not seem in the books and anything shade two minutes would be satisfactory for this particular field.

At least five trotters are given strong backing and three heats may be needed to determine who will collect top prize of $60,098.

Dazzling Speed, driven by Staples Dancer in a search for his first victory in the premier stakes after seven failures, was expected to be the main attraction. The showstoppers began the race at 12 starts this year.

County Sulkies Drivers Off Pace at Scioto

Forrest Short rode Linone to a fifth place finish in the first race. Jim Arledge piloted Dixie Crystal in the fifth, coming in seventh.

Emmett Ebenhack drove two races, riding Aurora Borealis to a fifth place finish in the seventh and Countess Jerri to a fifth place finish in the ninth.

The daily double combination of 7 and 2 paid better $242.80 at the mutual windows.

Bosox Take AL Lead; Twins, Tigers Second

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Boston Red Sox were getting drowsy trying to hit Jim Bouton. Then Darrell Brandon hit Bouton without trying. . . and Horace Clarke sent everybody home to bed.

As a result, Bouton's marathon mark is intact and the Red Sox are tossing in their sleep.

Clarke's run-scoring single in the 20th inning gave the New York Yankees a 4-3 victory over Boston Tuesday night after the Red Sox had seized the American League lead by winning the doubleheader opener 2-1.

The split left the Sox a scant half game ahead of both the Minnesota Twins, who lost to Baltimore 4-3, and Detroit Tigers, who swept a twin bill at California 4-2 and 2-1.

Clarke's one-out hit in the 20th knocked in John Kennedy, who had singled and moved into scoring position when Boston reliever Brandon hit Yankee reliever Bouton with a pitch.

Bouton, recalled from the minors last week, pitched five innings of three-hit ball to earn his first victory of the season. Five years ago, Bouton was the winner in a seven-hour, 22-inning marathon at Detroit.

In Tuesday night's other AL action the Washington Senators beat Chicago 3-0, dropping the White Sox 2½ games off the pace, and Cleveland edged Kansas City 9-8 in 10 innings.

In the National League, the New York Mets blanked St. Louis 2-0; Cincinnati shaded Philadelphia 1-0; San Francisco blitzed Los Angeles 10-1; Atlanta slammed Pittsburgh 7-3 and Houston topped the Chicago Cubs 5-3.

Steve Whitaker's home run in the 11th after the Red Sox had grabbed a 3-2 lead in the top of the inning, and a spectacular throw by center fielder Bill Robinson kept the Yankees alive in the extra-inning struggle.

Robinson grabbed Reggie Smith's one-out drive in the 17th and doubled Mike Andrews at the plate with an on-the-fly strike. Boston outfielders Carl Yastrzemski and Smith had choked off a New York threat two innings earlier with successive diving catches.

The Red Sox took the first game behind right-hander Jim Lonborg, who fired a three-hitter for his 18th victory and drove in the deciding run with a seventh-inning single off loser Mel Stottlemyre. Lonborg also fanned 11 Yankees to take the league lead with 195 strikeouts.

more past the Twins. Robinson cleared the bases after three walks got Boswell in trouble.

The Orioles added a run in the eighth on a bases-loaded walk by reliever Ron Kline, then weathered a two-run Minnesota rally in the ninth.

Denny McLain fired a three-hitter in the first game and rookies John Hiller and Fred Lasher checked the Angels on eight hits in the nightcap as the surging Tigers ran their current string to 10 victories in 13 starts.

Dick McAuliffe drove in two first-game runs with a homer and single for the Tigers. Bill Freehan broke up Ricky Clark's no-hit bid with a seventh-inning homer in the second game and Detroit added a run in the ninth on singles by Norm Cash and Ed Mathews plus an infield out.

Dick Bosman, up from Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League, shackled Chicago on five hits and handed the White Sox their sixth setback in eight games.

Run-scoring singles by Frank Howard, Cap Peterson and Ed Brinkman in the fourth gave Bosman all the support he needed.

The Indians broke an 8-8 tie in the 10th when Vic Davalillo beat out an infield hit, raced to third on Chuck Hinton's single and outlegged the throw to the plate on a grounder by Chico Salmon.

Undefeated Packers To Face Browns

CLEVELAND (AP) — Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor are gone and Bart Starr may not see much action. But one thing doesn't seem to change about the world champion Green Bay Packers who come here for an exhibition game Saturday night: They keep right on winning.

The Packers rolled to their 11th straight victory Monday night, defeating the Dallas Cowboys 20-3. Starr, who has a rib injury, played only briefly before Zeke Bratkowski took over the passing duties.

While Hornung and Taylor are gone from the backfield, two new runners with great potential are coming along. The two, who cost the Packers nearly $1 million, are Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski, both second year men on the National Football League club.

Anderson from Texas Tech, has tremendous speed and quick moves, and he can throw, kick and catch the ball as well as run with it.

Grabowski, of Illinois, lacks Anderson's great speed but broke loose for some good gain in limited action last year.

Team No. 1 Takes Top League Honors

Team No. 1 grabbed top honors in Men's League action at Pickaway Country Club Tuesday, netting 15½ points.

The team, currently in a tie for third place with Team No. 2, is made up of Bill Shockley, Bob Moon, Lee Cook, Paul Butz, Bill Eddy, Art Cross, Larry Cordle and Dave Gillespie.

Low gross player was Bob Moon with 35. Low net was tied between Jim Rae and Harry Stanton at 31.

Teams No. 4 and No. 6 are currently knotted for the loop lead, each with 60½ points. Next team has 57 points.

Nolan Is Sharp In 1-0 Triumph

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds' youthful battery did all right against Philadelphia's veterans — but in the end it took an experienced pitcher to wind things up and break the Phils' winning streak at eight games.

The Reds eked out a 1-0 victory over the Phils Tuesday night despite a two-hit performance by veteran Jim Bunning. The victory went to 19-year-old Gary Nolan, Cincinnati's prize rookie, who is now 11-6.

Nolan and catcher John Bench, also 19 and only two days in the major leagues, made up the young battery. They faced Bunning and Clay Dalrymple, both of whom have many years of experience, and won the game with relief help from young Bill McCool and veteran Ted Abernathy.

Nolan, who left the game in the eighth inning, said later that it was his own idea.

"I had talked with Dave Bristol on the phone and told him I was a little tired and I wasn't throwing well," he recounted. "I was behind the hitters much of the time. I told Dave I didn't have real good stuff."

Manager Bristol was thrown out of the game in the first inning after an argument over whether John Callison swung at Swinging Time's winning time was 2:00 1-5. Nardin's Byrd won in 2:01 3-5.

Best of All's track record also matched the best time for any pacer this year on a half mile track. Romulus Hanover equaled the time July 4 at Saratoga Raceway in New York.

Band Boosters' Grid Preview To Be Friday

Circleville Band Boosters will present the 1967 edition of the football team, cheerleaders and marching band in the annual grid preview 8 p. m. Friday.

The preview, designated to provide local fans with a look at coming gridiron attractions, will begin with the introduction of the band by George Marshall, director. Majorettes this year are Head Majorette Beverly Thompson, Marcia McFadden, Patty Gilt, Anne Guenther, Connie Rowland and Cindy Barnhill. Nancy Benzenberg is drum majorette.

Coach Paul Starr and his staff will unveil the 1967 Circleville Tigers and demonstrate what has been accomplished in the last two weeks.

Varsity cheerleaders Captain Janie Wiggins, Bev Carney, Connie Bowers, Diana Foster, Starr Tipton and Mary Gates will be joined by the reserve cheerleaders Capt. Vicki Ralston, Beth Smith, Joyce Ankrum, Shirley Flaker and Marcia Pontious for a show of their talents.

DAVIS Demons, a long-time favorite of Roundtown fans, will be on hand. A variety show is slated along with a group of youngsters called the Young Generation. The Band Boosters promise a few surprises to go along with the other action.

The fund-raising event will be held on Circleville High School football field.

Australian Duo Wins U.S. Title

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — John Newcombe and Tony Roche, a stylish southpaw duo, won the U.S. National Doubles tennis title with a 6-4, 6-3, 6-3 victory over New England Merchant's National Doubles champions the U.S. Pro Champions at Longwood.

Newcombe, 23, and Roche, 22, who began playing together as a team three years ago, captured the lone major title which had eluded them by defeating countrymen Bill Bowrey and Owen Davidson 6-8, 9-7, 6-3, 6-3 Tuesday in the windup of the 87th U.S. Doubles at Longwood.

Before heading for the U.S. Singles Championships starting Thursday at Forest Hills, N.Y., Newcombe and Roche discussed pro possibilities in frank terms.

"My thinking right now is not to turn pro for another year," Newcombe said. "I'd like to wait until (Aussies) Rod Laver and Ken Rosewall slip a little. They have been winning all the tournaments and it would be a little ridiculous to try and fight them now."

Peck Named to Post In Mid-American Loop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bob James, commissioner of the Mid-American Conference, announced Tuesday that Robert D. Peck will become his administrative assistant.

Peck, a native of Omaha, Neb., has been sports information director at the U.S. Air Force Academy since 1961.

Historical Facts About LABOR DAY

In 1882, Peter McGuire, co-founder of the American Federation of Labor suggested that one day a year be designated "Labor Day" and proposed the first Monday in September. Labor Day was celebrated in New York City that same year and by 1884, 24 states had adopted a similar holiday. At that time, Congress passed an act making it official for all states and territories.

Next Monday is Labor Day, a time to take stock of our industrial strength and pay tribute to the American worker who has helped to make our standard of living the envy of the world. To these people, we say "THANKS" for a wonderful job, well done.

'Baby Brigade' Prevails

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Pro golf has its Arnie's Army, Jack's Pack and Boros' Bunch.

Amateur golf counters with the Baby Brigade.

The Army, the Pack and the Bunch are the stampeding thousands who follow Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Julius Boros down the gold-plated fairways. But the Baby Brigade is three-fifths of the field in the U.S. Amateur Championships which began a 72-hole stand on the 6,906-yard West Broadmoor layout today.

There are 150 players in the field here and 91 are 25 years old or less.

Youngest of this brood is Joe Dills of Muskogee, Okla., a 15-year-old who registered a hole-in-one when only six. In contrast, Chuck Kocsis of Royal Oak, Mich., is 54 and was a contender in the 1930 amateur when Bob Jones won. They are this tourney's youngest and oldest.

Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ontario, the defending champion, is a venerable 29. He has both the experience and stamina needed to conquer the par 35-70 course which nestles in the shadows of the Cheyenne Mountains.

Mayfield Pro Boosts Lead In Ohio Open

CLEVELAND (AP) — The way Frank Boynton Jr. has been going in the Ohio Open Golf Tournament at the Mayfield Country Club, he may try to catch the flu before each tournament he enters.

The defending champion, playing on his home course, had to leave the course Sunday because of a touch of the flu, but shot a four under par 67 in the rain Monday to take a one-stroke lead in the tournament's opening round.

Before the second 18-hole round started Tuesday, the 31-year-old pro said he felt even worse than he did Monday. He went out and shot a six under par 33-32-65 to give him a 132 total and a six-stroke lead at the halfway mark.

"Maybe I'll play better each day if I keep feeling this way," Boynton said.

The field was cut Tuesday to the low 50 professional and ties and the low 15 amateurs and ties for the final 36 holes today.

Ed Griffiths of Youngstown, a member of the pro tour, fired a 70 Tuesday to go with his opening-round 68 to take over sole possession of second place with a 138.

Frank Wharton, head pro at Akron Fairlawn, is in third place with a two under par 140 after betting a 68 Tuesday.

The only others within shouting distance of the leader are Dick Schwartz, assistant pro at Shaker Heights, with a 143 and Dick Rhyne Jr. of Toledo with 145.

Boynton's round Tuesday included one eagle and five birdies.

The tournament's amateur contingent is led by Art Huddnutt of Elyria with a 73-75-148.

Speed Mark Unlikely in Hambletonian

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—A field of a dozen finely tuned 3-year-old trotters goes after one of harness racing's biggest plums Wednesday — victory in the $122,650 Hambletonian.

The corn-tassel derby, in the pastoral setting of the Du Quoin State Fairgrounds, will draw 25,000 fans who view the event as pure lovers of horse flesh. There is no lure of parimutuel betting.

By racetime at 3 p.m. EDT for the first mile heat, the weatherman forecast clearing skies. The mile oval, which produced a world record 1:56 4-5 by Ayres in 1964, should be fast. However, a record heat does not seem in the books and anything shading two minutes would be satisfactory for this particular field.

At least five trotters are given strong backing and three heats may be needed to determine who will collect top prize of $60,098.

Amazing Speed, driven by Stanley Dancer in a search for his first victory in the premier grade after seven failures, was expected to bring the main attraction. The strawberry roan horse starts this year.

County Sulkies Drivers Off Pace at Scioto

Pickaway County sulky drivers had a disappointing evening at Scioto Downs Tuesday, failing to finish in the money in four races.

Forrest Short rode Linone to a fifth place finish in the first race. Jim Arledge piloted Dixie Crystal in the fifth, coming in seventh.

Emmett Ebenhack drove two races, riding Aurora Borealis to a fifth place finish in the seventh and Countess Jerri to a fifth place finish in the ninth.

The daily double combination of 7 and 2 paid betters $242.80 at the mutual windows.

Bosox Take AL Lead; Twins, Tigers Second

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Boston Red Sox were getting drowsy trying to hit Jim Bouton. Then Darrell Brandon hit Bouton without trying . . . and Horace Clarke sent everybody home to bed.

As a result, Bouton's marathon mark is intact and the Red Sox are tossing in their sleep.

Clarke's run-scoring single in the 20th inning gave the New York Yankees a 4-3 victory over Boston Tuesday night after the Red Sox had seized the American League lead by winning the doubleheader opener 2-1.

The split left the Sox a scant half game ahead of both the Minnesota Twins, who lost to Baltimore 4-3, and Detroit Tigers, who swept a twin bill at California 4-2 and 2-1.

Clarke's one-out hit in the 20th knocked in John Kennedy, who had singled and moved into scoring position when Boston reliever Brandon hit Yankee reliever Bouton with a pitch.

Bouton, recalled from the minors last week, pitched five innings of three-hit ball to earn his first victory of the season. Five years ago, Bouton was the winner in a seven-hour, 22-inning marathon at Detroit.

In Tuesday night's other AL action the Washington Senators beat Chicago 3-0, dropping the White Sox 2½ games off the pace, and Cleveland edged Kansas City 9-8 in 10 innings.

In the National League, the New York Mets blanked St. Louis 2-0; Cincinnati shaded Philadelphia 1-0; San Francisco blitzed Los Angeles 10-1; Atlanta slammed Pittsburgh 7-3 and Houston topped the Chicago Cubs 5-3.

Steve Whitaker's home run in the 11th after the Red Sox had grabbed a 3-2 lead in the top of the inning, and a spectacular throw by center fielder Bill Robinson kept the Yankees alive in the extra-inning struggle.

Robinson grabbed Reggie Smith's one-out drive in the 17th and doubled Mike Andrews at the plate with an on-the-fly strike. Boston outfielders Carl Yastrzemski and Smith had choked off a New York threat two innings earlier with successive diving catches.

The Red Sox took the first game behind right-hander Jim Lonborg, who fired a three-hitter for his 18th victory and drove in the deciding run with a seventh-inning single off loser Mel Stottlemyre. Lonborg also fanned 11 Yankees to take the league lead with 195 strikeouts.

Brooks Robinson's three-run double with two out in the sixth — the first hit of Minnesota's Dave Boswell — triggered Balti-

Team No. 1 Takes Top League Honors

Team No. 1 grabbed top honors in Men's League action at Pickaway Country Club Tuesday, netting 15½ points.

The team, currently in a tie for third place with Team No. 2, is made up of Bill Shockley, Bob Moon, Lee Cook, Paul Butz, Bill Eddy, Art Cross, Larry Cordle and Dave Gillespie.

Low gross player was Bob Moon with 35. Low net was tied between Jim Rae and Harry Stanton at 31.

Teams No. 4 and No. 6 are currently knotted for the loop lead, each with 60½ points. Next team has 57 points.

Undeclared Packers To Face Browns

CLEVELAND (AP) — Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor are gone and Bart Starr may not see much action. But one thing doesn't seem to change about the world champion Green Bay Packers who come here for an exhibition game Saturday night: They keep right on winning.

The Packers rolled to their 11th straight victory Monday night, defeating the Dallas Cowboys 20-3. Starr, who has a rib injury, played only briefly before Zeke Bratkowski took over the passing duties.

While Hornung and Taylor are gone from the backfield, two new runners with great potential are coming along. The two, who cost the Packers nearly $1 million, are Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski, both second year men on the National Football League club.

Anderson from Texas Tech, has tremendous speed and quick moves, and he can throw, kick and catch the ball as well as run with it.

Grabowski, of Illinois, lacks Anderson's great speed but broke loose for some good gain in limited action last year.

Veteran back Elijah Pitts also is expected to see action against the Cleveland Browns in the second game of the pro football doubleheader.

Nolan Is Sharp In 1-0 Triumph

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds' youthful battery did all right against Philadelphia's veterans — but in the end it took an experienced pitcher to wind things up and break the Phils' winning streak at eight games.

The Reds eked out a 1-0 victory over the Phils Tuesday night despite a two-hit performance by veteran Jim Bunning. The victory went to 19-year-old Gary Nolan, Cincinnati's prize rookie, who is now 11-6.

Nolan and catcher John Bench, also 19 and only two days in the major leagues, made up the young battery. They faced Bunning and Clay Dalrymple, both of whom have many years of experience, and won the game with relief help from young Bill McCool and veteran Ted Abernathy.

Nolan, who left the game in the eighth inning, said later that it was his own idea.

"I had talked with Dave Bristol on the phone and told him I was a little tired and I wasn't throwing well," he recounted. "I was behind the hitters much of the time. I told Dave I didn't have real good stuff."

Manager Bristol was thrown out of the game in the first inning after an argument over whether John Callison swung at a pitch that was called as the fourth ball.

Neither Bunning 14-11, nor Manager Gene Mauch had anything to say after the game. Both appeared extremely dejected by the defeat that put the Reds back into second place, one game ahead of the Phils.

After Pete Rose tripled with two out in the first, Bunning retired 15 batters in a row before walking Tommy Harper in the sixth. The Reds' run came in the seventh when Vada Pinson led off with a double, went to third as Rose grounded out, and came home on Lee May's sacrifice fly to deep right field.

The Phillies threatened in the ninth when McCool walked Tony Taylor with one out. Abernathy took over and walked pinch hitter Gene Oliver, and the runners advanced on a groundout by Doug Clemens. But pinch hitter Gary Sutherland bounced out to end the game.

The Reds will pitch Milt Pappas against Chris Short tonight as they end their season series with the Phillies.

The Reds announced Tuesday the recall of 19 minor league players, including former Reds reliever Ted Davidson from Buffalo. Davidson will report next week, the other players next spring.

Nicklaus Takes Lead In Westchester Open

RYE, N.Y. (AP) — Arnold Palmer was shaking his head in mock horror.

"I'm never going to play with him again," Palmer said, pointing an accusing finger at the bulky figure of Jack Nicklaus.

"Every time I do he shoots a 65. It's ridiculous. He was putting like a madman."

But that was Tuesday, just a few minutes after Nicklaus, in the same threesome with Palmer and dazzling Doug Sanders, had carved out a seven-under-par 65 and taken command of the $250,000 Westchester Classic Golf Tournament with a 54 hole total of 201—an awesome 15 under par.

Palmer didn't know at that time that he is once again paired with Nicklaus in today's final round of the tourney that three times was delayed by rain.

Nicklaus held a three-stroke lead over the trio of Gary Player, the little South African who has won all the world's major professional tournaments, who had a third round 68; Dan Sikes, who was twice rescued by rain, 70; and British Open champion Robert de Vicenzo of Argentina, 68. They're tied at 204.

Palmer, the game's all-time leading money winner, shot a third round 67 and was tied at 205, four strokes off the pace, with young Frank Beard, winner of three tournaments this year, 70; and lefty Bob Charles of New Zealand, 70.

Sanders is alone at 206 after a 69. Dead tired Mahon Rudolph, who led the first two rounds and had two sub-par rounds wiped out by rain, blew to a 75 and 209.

Band Boosters' Grid Preview To Be Friday

Circleville Band Boosters will present the 1967 edition of the football team, cheerleaders and marching band in the annual grid preview 8 p. m. Friday.

The preview, designated to provide local fans with a look at coming gridiron attractions, will begin with the introduction of the band by George Marshall, director. Majorettes this year are Head Majorette Beverly Thompson, Marcia McFadden, Patty Gilt, Anne Guenther, Connie Rowland and Cindy Barnhill. Nancy Benzenberg is drum majorette.

Coach Paul Starr and his staff will unveil the 1967 Circleville Tigers and demonstrate what has been accomplished in the last two weeks.

Varsity cheerleaders Captain Janie Wiggins, Bev Carney, Connie Bowers, Diana Foster, Starr Tipton and Mary Gates will be joined by the reserve cheerleaders Capt. Vicki Ralston, Beth Smith, Joyce Ankrom, Shirley Flaker and Marcia Pontious for a show of their talents.

DAVIS Demons, a long-time favorite of Roundtown fans, will be on hand. A variety show is slated along with a group of youngsters called the Young Generation. The Band Boosters promise a few surprises to go along with the other action.

The fund-raising event will be held on Circleville High School football field.

Australian Duc Wins U.S. Title

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — John Newcombe and Tony Roche, Australia's newly crowned U.S. National Doubles champions, are thinking about a pro tennis future but they're in no rush to join the play-for-pay ranks.

Newcombe, 23, and Roche, 22, who began playing together as a team three years ago, captured the lone major title which had eluded them by defeating countrymen Bill Bowrey and Owen Davidson 6-8, 9-7, 6-3, 6-3 Tuesday in the windup of the 87th U.S. Doubles at Longwood.

Roche, a stylish southpaw doublet, once again with his top in shot. He said he has been discussing professional tennis with Rod Laver, whose New England Merchant's National Doubles title won the U.S. Pro Championships at Longwood.

Bob King, a 23-year-old Lone Beach, Calif., housewife and Miss Casals, a bouncy 18-year-old, won the U.S. Women's Doubles by defeating Mary Ann Eisel of St. Louis and Donna Floyd Fales of New York 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Peck Named to Post In Mid-American Loop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bob James, commissioner of the Mid-American Conference, announced Tuesday that Robert D. Peck will become his administrative assistant.

Peck, a native of Omaha, Neb., has been sports information director at the U.S. Air Force Academy since 1961.

1. Card of Thanks

I wish to thank friends, relatives for flowers, gifts and cards I received while in the Hospital. Also thanks to all the nurses for their kindness.

Sincerely, Joan Seaton

We wish to express our everlasting and heartfelt thanks to our relatives, friends, and kind neighbors for their love and acts of kindness during the illness and passing of our beloved father and grandfather, Mr. John Kaiser. Our sincere appreciation to Rev. John Morgan and Rev. Carl Butterbaugh, Dr. R. S. Hosler, the Baptist Funeral Home and the beautiful floral offerings, and all who shared in our loss.

Jim Nance Holds Key For Patriots in AFL

ANDOVER, Mass. (AP) — To most people, Dec. 7, 1941, is the day that will live in infamy. To the Boston Patriots, however, the day that will live in infamy is Dec. 17, 1966.

For it was on that day that the New York Jets bombed the Patriots out of the Eastern Division championship in the American Football League.

Boston went into that final game of the regular season, needing only a victory or even a tie to clinch the title. But Matt Snell and Emerson Booser ran all over and through the league's best rushing defense, and the Patriots had to settle for another second-place finish.

Coach Mike Holovak naturally was disheartened by the result, but looking back on the season as a whole he's not upset.

"I'll take the same record we had (8-4-2) every year I'm coaching," he said, "and I think I'd win it nine times out of 10."

The problem for the Patriots, of course, is achieving that record again.

Their biggest asset toward reaching that goal is the AFL's most valuable player, Jim Nance. The 235-pound fullback was unstoppable last year and says he'll be just as hard, if not harder, to top this year.

Playing in only his second season in 1966, Nance rambled for 1,458 yard on 299 carries, both league records.

It isn't only his running, though, that makes Boston go. He is such a powerful blocker that quarterback Babe Parilli can count on at least one man keeping the blitzers away.

"He's by far the best blocker I've ever had," Parilli says.

Joining Nance and Parilli in the backfield are flanker Gino Cappelletti and halfback Larry Garrison. Joe Bellino, a flanker last year, had been given a crack at the halfback job, but Garrison appears to have held onto it.

Art Graham is back at split end where he set a team record last year with 51 catches, and Jim Whalen continues to improve at tight end.

The rest of the line has Don Oakes and Tom Neville at the tackles, Len St. Jean and Charlie Long at guards and all-star Jon Morris at center.

Defensively, the Patriots have a problem, but they're not sure how big it is. All-star Nick Buoniconti, their middle line-backer, has been having kidney trouble, and it's not known when he'll be able to play. Rookies Ed Toner or Ed Philpott likely will play in his place.

The outside linebackers are Tom Addison and Doug Satcher. The rest of the defense is a mixture of experience and on-the-job training. The ends, Bob Dee and Larry Eisenhauer, have 15 years of pro service between them while tackles Houston Antwine and Jim Hunt have been playing for a combined 13 years.

In drafting college players this year, Boston concentrated heavily on defensive men, and two of them—John Charles, No. 1, and Leroy Mitchell, No. 11—appear to have won starting roles as corner backs. Safeties Ron Hall and Chuck Shonta round out the secondary. The Patriots naturally are aiming for an even better record than last season, but as Holovak said: "I think our record last year would win it this year."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "On Tuesday, August 29, 1967, the fugitive stopped running," intoned the unseen narrator, and Dr. Richard Kimble, cleared of his wife's murder, smiled at the pretty girls at his side and walked into the sunset.

It was Tuesday night's widely heralded wind-up of ABC's "The Fugitive," and while the final pair of programs are unlikely to be candidates for writing awards, they did break television precedents.

The two-part episode tried to tie up all the loose ends of four seasons and to satisfy the curiosity of the viewer about how their hero emerged from his jam. It also produced the novel wrap-up in new programs broadcast during the summer rerun doldrums.

The conclusion was hard to pull together, so it's no wonder the final chapter wasn't up to the standards of the rest of the long-running series. No secret was made that the one-armed man was the murderer, so suspense had to come from another area.

Finding an eye-witness to the killing was the central theme, but that hardly seemed dramatic enough, so the climax was a chase through a deserted amusement park and a fight-to-the-finish atop a high rise—a familiar pair of end-of-show television cliches. What has attracted considerable attention in the industry was giving the viewers a wind-up show. The device attracted publicity and drew oversize audiences. The national Nielsen ratings, estimating the size of the audiences, will be closely studied when they come in, but preliminary checks indicate a lot of homes which usually turn off their sets for summer had them on for "The Fugitive."

Executives presumably are now wondering if the right kind of new programs might attract those millions who are, each summer, presumed to be off fishing.

ABC executives tried to figure out a way to use the interest in the end-of-show programs.

"We thought of having the one-armed man arrested and jailed," said Harve Bennett, West Coast program vice president, "and then, in the last scene, Judd, the lawyer in one of our new series, would come into the cell and prepare to defend him. But we couldn't find any way to work it out."

One stumbling block undoubtedly was Quinn Martin, creator and head of the production company that turned out the departing show, "Judd for the Defense," the new courtroom series, is made by another producer with ties to other film studios.

David Janssen, who played "The Fugitive" for four exhausting years—he appeared in almost every scene—breathed life and sympathy into a thoroughly implausible character. Perhaps the greatest challenge, however, was handed Barry Morse, cast as the policeman who pursued him relentlessly, obviously a neurotic victim of some compulsion but who, at least once was so kind and trusting that the recaptured man could talk him into temporary freedom.

One thing that made the wind-up shows possible was the fact that Janssen wanted to leave the series and he was impossible to replace. ABC would have liked to continue the show, but Janssen, fatigued, was eager to get into a less rigorous and equally rewarding motion picture career.

Meanwhile, "The Fugitive" is due to start running all over again, as the four years of programs are sold for local station reruns.

Jim Nance Holds Key For Patriots in AFL

ANDOVER, Mass. (AP) — To most people, Dec. 7, 1941, is the day that will live in infamy. To the Boston Patriots, however, the day that will live in infamy is Dec. 17, 1966.

Coach Mike Holovak naturally was disheartened by the result, but looking back on the season as a whole he's not upset.

"I'll take the same record we had (8-4-2) every year I'm coaching," he said, "and I think I'd win it nine times out of 10."

The problem for the Patriots, of course, is achieving that record again.

Their biggest asset toward reaching that goal is the AFL's most valuable player, Jim Nance. The 235-pound fullback was unstoppable last year and says he'll be just as hard, if not harder, to top this year.

Playing in only his second season in 1966, Nance rambled for 1,458 yard on 299 carries, both league records.

It isn't only his running, though, that makes Boston go. He is such a powerful blocker that quarterback Babe Parilli can count on at least one man keeping the blitzers away.

"He's by far the best blocker I've ever had," Parilli says.

Joining Nance and Parilli in the backfield are flanker Gino Cappelletti and halfback Larry Garrison. Joe Bellino, a flanker last year, had been given a crack at the halfback job, but Garrison appears to have held onto it.

Art Graham is back at split end where he set a team record last year with 51 catches, and Jim Whalen continues to improve at tight end.

The rest of the line has Don Oakes and Tom Neville at the tackles, Len St. Jean and Charlie Long at guards and all-star Jon Morris at center.

Defensively, the Patriots have a problem, but they're not sure how big it is. All-star Nick Buoniconti, their middle line-backer, has been having kidney trouble, and it's not known when he'll be able to play. Rookies Ed Toner or Ed Philpott likely will play in his place.

The outside linebackers are Tom Addison and Doug Satcher. The rest of the defense is a mixture of experience and on-the-job training. The ends, Bob Dee and Larry Eisenhauer, have 15 years of pro service between them while tackles Houston Antwine and Jim Hunt have been playing for a combined 13 years.

In drafting college players this year, Boston concentrated heavily on defensive men, and two of them—John Charles, No. 1, and Leroy Mitchell, No. 11—appear to have won starting roles as corner backs. Safeties Ron Hall and Chuck Shonta round out the secondary.

The Patriots naturally are aiming for an even better record than last season, but as Holovak said: "I think our record last year would win it this year."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "On Tuesday, August 29, 1967, the Fugitive stopped running," intoned the unseen narrator, and Dr. Richard Kimble, cleared of his wife's murder, smiled at the pretty girls at his side and walked into the sunset.

It was Tuesday night's widely heralded wind-up of ABC's "The Fugitive," and while the final pair of programs are unlikely to be candidates for writing awards, they did break television precedents.

The two-part episode tried to tie up all the loose ends of four seasons and to satisfy the curiosity of the viewer about how their hero emerged from his jam. It also produced the novel wrap-up in new programs broadcast during the summer rerun doldrums.

The conclusion was hard to pull together, so it's no wonder the final chapter wasn't up to the standards of the rest of the long-running series. No secret was made that the one-armed man was the murderer, so suspense had to come from another area.

Finding an eye-witness to the killing was the central theme, but that hardly seemed dramatic enough, so the climax was a chase through a deserted amusement park and a fight-to-the-finish atop a high rise—a familiar pair of end-of-show television cliches. What has attracted considerable attention in the industry was giving the viewers a wind-up show. The device attracted publicity and drew oversize audiences. The national Nielsen ratings, estimating the size of the audiences, will be closely studied when they come in, but preliminary checks indicate a lot of homes which usually turn off their sets for summer had them on for "The Fugitive."

Executives presumably are now wondering if the right kind of new programs might attract those millions who are, each summer, presumed to be off fishing.

ABC executives tried to figure out a way to use the interest in the end-of-show programs.

"We thought of having the one-armed man arrested and jailed," said Harve Bennett, West Coast program vice president, "and then, in the last scene, Judd, the lawyer in one of our new series, would come into the cell and prepare to defend him. But we couldn't find any way to work it out."

One stumbling block undoubtedly was Quinn Martin, creator and head of the production company that turned out the departing show. "Judd for the Defense," the new courtroom series, is made by another producer with ties to other film studios.

David Janssen, who played "The Fugitive" for four exhausting years—he appeared in almost every scene—breathed life and sympathy into a thoroughly implausible character.

Perhaps the greatest challenge, however, was handed Barry Morse, cast as the policeman who pursued him relentlessly, obviously a neurotic victim of some compulsion but who, at least once was so kind and trusting that the recaptured man could talk him into temporary freedom.

One thing that made the wind-up shows possible was the fact that Janssen wanted to leave the series and he was impossible to replace. ABC would have liked to continue the show, but Janssen, fatigued, was eager to get into a less rigorous and equally rewarding motion picture career.

Meanwhile, "The Fugitive" is due to start running all over again, as the four years of programs are sold for local station reruns.
